Chief Saunders to Ask for Three Pumps and Two
Tractors This Year

One Pump Needed Would Comprise Equipment at
New Oaklands House

Estimates to cover the purchase of three triple combination pumps and two tractors will be included in the 1924 budget submitted by Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department to be announced today. This would completely motorize the department.

One of the three pumps desired would be the equipment for the new engine house in the Oaklands to be another would be stationed at the ready for occupancy some time in May according to present reckoning. The third would go to the house of Engine 5 in Centralville.

Chief Saunders pointed out today that if a triple combination for the Oaklands house is to be on hand when the house is ready for use, a requisition to cover its purchase must go in early in the year and this he plans to do.

CANCELS REQUISITION FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT TRACTOR

Purchasing Agent Donnelly Makes Announcement After Conferences Which Result in Approval of Mayor,
Fire Chief and Local F. W. D. Tractor Agent

Upon his recommendation and following conferences with Mayor John J. Donovan, Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders and George W. Morrison, local agent for the four-wheel-drive tractor, Purchasing Agent Edward J. Donnelly today announced that the requisition under which bids recently were received for a tractor for the fire department, has been cancelled.

"This action has the approval of all persons interested," Mr. Donnelly said. "The cancellation of the requisition brings to an end a controversy of several weeks' duration during which the tractor award was made to the four-wheel-drive, sold by Mr. Morrison. Upon the announcement of the F.W.D. was not satisfactory to him and said he would not accept it if delivered. The mayor stated he had no reasons for not awarding the bid to the F.W.D. pointing out it was the lowest in price and as far as he knew was fully capable of doing the work required of it in the fire department.

A day or so ago Purchasing Agent Donnelly announced that he had asked Mr. Morrison to file a $2500 bond in relation to delivery, stating as his reason that there was a considerable difference between the F.W.D. bid and the one nearest to it in price and he felt the city should be given every protection in the matter of delivery in complete accordance with the original specifications.

Chief Edward F. Saunders said today he will not submit another tractor requisition at the present time.

Riding Squad Transferred to Other Branches of the Police Service

Lowell's efficient motorcycle police squad consisting of Officers Bernard J. Judke, Walter L. Kivlan, Andrew Hunter, Charles Hamilton, Daniel Lynch and Frank Murphy, officially went into retirement for the winter months today, the above officers being transferred to other branches of the service.

Perhaps the most important transfer is that affecting Officer Hunter, who has been assigned to duty with the riding squad. This appointment, said Supt. Atkinson this morning, is purely temporary.

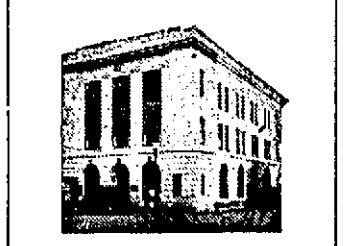

Officer Murphy has been assigned to the early night shift; Officers Judke and Hamilton are on day duty; Officer Lynch is an emergency man, and Officer Kivlan is doing "special" work.

Duffy Girl Pleads Not Guilty to Fur Robbery Here and Father Offers to Furnish $5,000 Bail

Joseph A. Barry, Her Companion, Pleads Guilty to Breaking and Entering and Larceny—Facts Go to Grand Jury Wednesday—Both Defendants Committed in Default of Bail—Girl's Father Goes Home for Deeds to Property He Would Offer as Surety

Two of the three defendants in the sensational fur robbery of yesterday were arraigned in district court before Judge Knight this morning a continuance until Jan. 15 being granted at the request of the police. As the grand jury will go in session on Jan. 14 and the district attorney has been given the facts of the case it is expected that indictments will be brought before that date.

Joseph A. Barry pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the night time and larceny. Bail was set at $10,000 and he was confined in default of bail. Mary Duffy pleaded not guilty and asked that bail be reduced. James O'Keefe of Boston, her attorney, said the girl has no previous record and that her father, who was in court, could raise $5000 for bail but could not raise over that amount. Deputy Superintendent of Police Hugh Downey recommended a reduction and the court set the bail at $5000.

Miss Duffy was committed while her father returned to Boston to secure deeds and other instruments to prove title to the property which he would advance as surety. He said he expected to return and have her released before early evening.

Rose G. Chase, owner of the fur store, was in court as the complainant. The courtroom was crowded with interested spectators, standing room only being again the rule.

Joseph A. Barry, who gave an address in Massachusetts avenue when first arrested corrected his address today. He lives at 86 Howland street, New Bedford, and up to a short time ago was employed in a Middleboro restaurant.

Barry is 26 years old. Miss Duffy is married and lives with her parents at 62 Montgomery street, Boston. The third member of the looting trio, Alfred M. Mellor of 32 West Newton street, Boston, has commenced his term of one year given him in Woburn court yesterday. Police expected he will be indicted with the couple that were arraigned here this morning and that the three cases will be called together in Superior court.

SEVERE COLD WAVE HITS EAST— TEMPERATURES DROP IN SOUTH

West Already in Grip of Zero Weather—34 Below at
Moorehead, Minn.—White River, Ont., Reports 42
Below—Two Frozen to Death in West

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The government weather forecasters brought into play some of the superlative terms of their scientific lexicon today to describe what will happen to the country in the next 24 hours.

A "severe" cold wave was forecast for most of the east, as far south as the Virginia-North Carolina line, while a "cold wave" with temperatures below freezing, was said to be in store for all the rest of the eastern forecast district except southern Florida. It was recorded that the west already was in the grip of under zero weather ranging downward to 31 degrees below at Moorehead, Minn. The low mark in Canada, was 42 degrees below at White River, Ont.

'T WAS VERY GOOD WORK ALL 'ROUND

As a token of appreciation for services rendered in apprehending the Boston auto-bandits who were arrested for the local police, in Stoneham, yesterday morning, Supt. Atkinson today addressed complimentary messages to the police of Stoneham, Reading and Lawrence. Although they did not figure in the actual capture, explained the superintendent, members of the Lawrence force policed the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard as far as Lowell and showed that they were on the job. "It was a commendable piece of work all around," he said.

ly cloudy, much colder Saturday night. The same authority also predicts northwest winds. By no stretch of the imagination can this morning's storm be classed as "reluctant" weather, so it seems that another blast must be chalked up against the weather prophet. Neither could the storm be classed as a mere squall for after four hours of snow the sky remains gray and overcast and visibility remains low, all of which, according to the almanac, being signs of a continued storm.

CITY WRAPPED IN SNOW BLANKET

Unhindered by the trumpets of the sky and unannounced by the government weather prophets, a snow storm broke over our city shortly after 6 o'clock this morning and before noon a goodly quantity of the beautiful snow decorated our streets and highways, much to the disgust of shoppers and shopkeepers.

A few soft flakes greeted the mail workers as they started for their daily tasks, but the storm did not break in earnest until about 8 o'clock. A gentle breeze that varied from east to northeast seemed to be the propelling power that brought the storm here, but it soon died out and to check the air was still, but the snow continued to fall, assuming all the appearance of an old-timer.

Officials of the street railway company, who must head the snow more than any other local agency, were unpleasantly surprised at the storm. With overcoats buckled up and mufflers wrapped high about their necks, they proceeded to fight the storm with all available equipment. The emergency snow plow crews were on the scene of action early and by 1 o'clock use of the rotary brushes was out, sweeping the rails clear of snow and the remainder of the snow-clearing equipment was held in readiness to take up the fight if the storm began to let the heat of the five brushes. No delays were met with on any line on account of the storm and Supt. Sevier felt confident that there will be no delays.

But to who met the greatest surprise at seeing the snow was no other than our old friend, the weather man. Before going to bed last night he carefully typed out the following predictions for today: "Saturday, part-

HAS RECOMMENDATIONS

Police Chief Will Ask for Money This Year to Name
Two New Sergeants

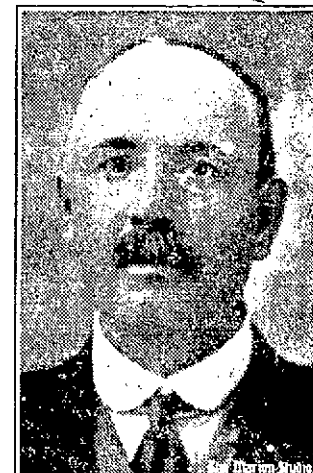

One Would Head Traffic
Squad, Which He Would Double in Size

Superintendent Thomas R. Atkinson of the police department this year will ask the city government for sufficient money to enable him to appoint two new sergeants and to at least double the personnel of the present traffic squad. He believes the traffic squad should number a dozen or more active men, as he feels the present squad of six men and a supervisor entirely inadequate to cope with the tremendous increase in vehicular travel through the city streets.

The superintendent believes the supervisor of the traffic squad should be an officer and one of the sergeants desired is for such a position. There also is need of another sergeant for the late night shift, he states.

In discussing his 1924 budget estimates today, Superintendent Atkinson said these recommendations stand out as the most prominent he has in mind and he feels that a substantial increase in the size of the traffic squad is absolutely essential.

City Animal Inspector Says Between Ten and Twenty Thousand Ownerless and Homeless Dogs in City
Constitute Serious Menace—Makes Annual Report

The annual report of City Animal Inspector Dr. W. A. Sherman submitted today to Mayor John J. Donovan includes the statement that there are in Lowell at present between 10,000 and 20,000 unlicensed, improperly marked dogs, many of them ownerless and homeless, who feed as best they can on garbage and other refuse.

They constitute a real menace, he declares and states that the city has been particularly fortunate in escaping a serious outbreak of rabies. He recommends that all unlicensed dogs be killed.

Dr. Sherman's report shows that during 1923 he examined 24 stables, 249 cows, 22 young cattle, seven bulls and 185 swine. He identified and released the cows sent into the city from outside the state. He placed three cows in quarantine, killed two because they were tubercular and released one. Eleven horses were examined when shipped in from outside the state.

He had reported to him during the year 180 cases of dog bite. Four heads were sent to Boston for examination and two positive cases of rabies were reported.

INAUGURATION MONDAY CITY DYNAMITE IS NOW IN SAFE STORAGE

Mayor to Make Nominations for City Treasurer and City Auditor

The only definite announcements Mayor John J. Donovan cared to make today relative to appointments or nominations on inauguration day, next Monday, were that he will send to the council the names of Joseph M. Dineen for city treasurer and Daniel E. Martin for city auditor. He may submit other nominations, but will not decide definitely until after the week-end.

Mr. Dineen's nomination is to succeed Fred H. Bourke, the present treasurer, who also is a candidate for reelection. Mr. Dineen is an epitome of trust and is treasurer of the Lowell post, American Legion. As far as can be learned there have been no other candidates for the position of auditor and Mr. Martin's election seems assured.

Through the courtesy of Gerald Cahill, agent of the United States Cartridge Co., the city street department has been given the free use of one of the modern magazines of the Cartridge Co. for the storage of its dynamite. This has allowed the abandonment of the old magazine, which was broken into and handled and sometimes stolen. In the new magazine offered to the city by Mr. Cahill, the explosives will be perfectly safe and out of the reach of inquisitive children.

Members of the Lowell American Legion auxiliary affiliated with Post 57, will join with the Legion members in the public distribution of the latter's officers for 1924, at Liberty hall, next Monday evening. All auxiliary members have been asked to attend.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL LOWELL MAN'S COAT

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Right under the shadows of the state house two bold men yesterday afternoon tried to steal a valuable fur coat from an antique store. There was a cold watch in the coat both being the property of Thoma Neenath, 71 of Lowell. The thieves did not get away with the coat, because the watchman at the state house, James Southworth, got on the trail of the two men and they dropped it.

COOLIDGE URGES MELLON PLAN

President Opposes Any Alteration in Essential Provisions of Tax Bill

Republican Leaders Hope to Put Off Show-Down on Soldiers' Bonus

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—With President Coolidge known to oppose any alteration in the essential provisions of the Mellon tax reduction bill or any compromise involving its principles, republican leaders in the house today continued their efforts to put off action on a soldiers' bonus measure until the ways and means committee can decide not only on the administrative features of the tax bill, but also on the proposed rate changes.

The president's attitude was made known at the White House yesterday, but it was said he does not plan to bring pressure in support of his views upon individual representatives, and was confident that congress, in action on the bill, would translate into law the will of the people.

Efforts to get some affirmative action on the whole revenue law revision program prior to a showdown on the bonus appear to have made some progress in conferences between steering committee leaders and republican members of the house who have been demanding a party conference to instruct the ways and means committee upon the question. Several of the representatives who have been circulating petitions for the conference are said to be willing to withhold them for a time to give the committee a "reasonable" opportunity to report a bonus bill.

SHUBERT AND CURRY TO BOX IN THIS CITY

Al Shubert, New Bedford "barren," who recently triumphed over Johnny Dundee and Joe Curry at New Haven, who holds three decisions over Young Manly, were matched today by the Moody club to meet in this city on next Thursday night.

It was originally planned to present Phineas, Boyle and Jimmy Frazzetti, but a cold, but Boyle recovered and will have training and asked for a postponement.

In signing up Shubert and Curry, the local book-maker, feels he has succeeded in landing in Lowell several years ago, since that time he has fought Young Manly, Shubert, Chick Suggs, Jimmy Conroy and many others.

The local book-maker, who has been up and down at the 15th street, will meet in the semi-final. There will be three six-round preliminaries.

Curry is well known here and has a very impressive record. He fought Phineas Boyle in Lowell several years ago. Since that time he has fought Young Manly, Shubert, Chick Suggs, Jimmy Conroy and many others.

FUNERAL NOTICES

McCALLUM—Died in this city January 3, 1924, at 626 Bridge street, Mrs. Addie M. McCallum, aged 78 years, 2 months and 23 days. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 626 Bridge street. Friends invited to attend. Undertaker: Hiram C. Brown in charge.

SMITH—The funeral of Matthew Smith will take place Monday morning from his late home, 7 Adams st., at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker Peter D. Savagere, son.

CANDIDA—Died, Jan. 3, Mrs. Celestina Candida. Funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from her late home, 205 Graham street. Services will be held at St. Anthony's church at 2:30 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

LOWELL HUMANE SOCIETY

It is understood clearly by the residents of all the outlying towns of Lowell, that cats and dogs suffering from injuries will not be attended to by the Lowell Humane Society, which work is restricted to the larger animals, such as horses and cows, and to children. In these sections of Greater Lowell, there are so many cases demanding attention here that it is impossible for the agents of the society to make a long trip to Braintree, Melrose and other towns in any except the most important cases.

FLOODING SKATING ARRAYS

Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department will send a man from his department to Keene, N. H., within a day or two to advise citizens of that city on flooding small areas for skating. The request for such a man was received today from Gerald E. Barlow, editor of the Keene Sentinel, formerly a member of the editorial staff of The Lowell Sun. The Keene newspaper will pay all expenses incidental to the trip.

MABEL NORMAND APPEALS TO PUBLIC TO WITHHOLD JUDGMENT

"Unjust of Censors or Anyone Else to Condemn Me Before They Have Heard My Story," Says Film Actress Involved in Dines Shooting Case

MABEL NORMAND

MABEL NORMAND

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Three persons are smarting under what they termed the injustice of a situation created by the shooting here last Tuesday night of "Courtland" S. Dines, Denver oil operator and chairman.

They are Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, present at the shooting; Horace A. Green, her chauffeur, who fired the shots; and Dines, who was hit by two bullets.

Miss Normand, recuperating from an operation for chronic appendicitis, awaits at the Good Samaritan hospital the effect of an appeal she addressed last night to the American public to "withhold judgment of me until all the facts are known."

"I feel that I am particularly unfortunate in reading most of the publicity in this terrible tragedy," she declared, "and it is unjust of the censors or anyone else to condemn me before they have heard my story."

Green, whom police described as "a self-confessed hero, who shot in outrage," when Miss Normand failed to take seriously his efforts to "rescue" her from Dines' apartment.

New Year's night, occupied a cell in the county jail after his arraignment yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He clings to his original declaration that "a bold design to protect the screen actress" coupled with a desire to save his own life, constituted his sole motive for pulling the trigger of Miss Normand's automatic pistol and sending a bullet through Dines' lung.

As for Dines the injustice of the situation as it affects him, is evidenced in his statement: "I don't know why in the world that cool shot was made, he was full of rage."

What Edna Purviance, the other motion picture actress, present at the shooting, thinks about the course events have taken, is not revealed, she having remained silent since her recent statement, admitting that she and Dines "were engaged and yet not engaged, if you understand what I mean."

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Drunken Man Falls Through Window—Woman Given Time to Find Husband

"How many drinks did you have last night?" asked Deputy Police Supt. Hugh Downey, prosecuting officer, of a man arraigned before Judge Enright in district court this morning charged with second offense of drunkenness. "Between 6 o'clock and about half past ten I'd say I had about three, yes, just three," responded the defendant, who entered a plea of not guilty.

"Three drinks of what?" "Alcohol, sir."

"Three pretty stiff drinks, weren't they?"

"Quite fair,"

"Only fair, and you fell through the window of a store at 478 Merrimack street? What would have happened if they'd been good drinks?"

"I didn't fall, I slipped."

The arresting officer testified that the defendant was so drunk he had difficulty in getting up and could not stand without assistance when he did get up. Judge Enright filed the complaint with an adjudication of guilty and suspended sentence for one week. If defendant pays for the window before next Saturday his troubles are at an end as far as the court is concerned. If not, and the difference is $2.75, he is likely to find they have not begun.

Her Husband Lost

A continuance of one week to find her husband was granted Victoria Willetts, of Railroad street, alleged lover of liquor, whose domestic was visited by the liquor squad raiders last night. She said she couldn't pay a fine or couldn't get bail.

"Who'd go my bail?" she asked the court through the Polish interpreter. "Where's your husband?" asked the judge.

She shrugged her shoulders and let loose a monosyllabic grunt. "She don't know," said the interpreter.

"How long since she last saw him?" asked the court.

Another monosyllabic and the man between replied that the man of the house "went for a walk" yesterday morning and hasn't returned.

"He'll be back," said the judge prophetically in making the continuance.

Two Other Liquor Cases

Alfred Brunelle, alleged illegal keeper, secured a continuance of one week.

Henry St. George, 64, 416 Suffolk street, pleaded guilty, paying $100 cash fine.

A continuance of 2 months was granted James Burns, charged with failure to properly provide for his daughter, who is in state custody.

Joseph Lachance, non support, secured a continuance of one month.

John Repezo is a good thinker when he sticks to his last. His wife told Judge Enright this morning, last night however John, who has been hitting the staff that chooses pretty regularly, lately got drunk again, she resumed.

Little girl up so badly she was unable to appear in court. He attacked his wife with an empty bottle and she was scared for her life, she said.

Two strong bluecoats had a full month's allotment of exercise in the half hour they spent convincing John that divorce was to be his lot.

A sentence of five months in the house of correction was suspended on John's solemn vow to leave her liquor when he was religiously alone.

The wife promised to let Judge Enright know of the husband failed to live up to his agreement, and the matter there closed.

The cooking, dressmaking, millinery, embroidery and home nursing classes of the Vocational school will resume Monday and Tuesday evenings at the high school annex, Butler, Colburn, Franklin, Edson, Green, Greenhalgh, Lincoln, Moody, Pawtucket, Riverside, Carnum and Washington schools and at the times as follows:

West Hill By Cold Wave

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The cold wave in the central west today caused a serious interference with telegraph and telephone service. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which causes a large number of telephone wires to pass through the mountains, reported that service was less than 50 per cent. normal in number of wires working, and that wires in service were operating about half-time.

The states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois were said to be suffering most from the cold which contracted and snapped many wires.

Breakfast houses stated they had no service to Chicago or St. Louis, but had maintained communication with intermediate points.

Storm Warning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The weather bureau issued this storm warning today:

Advisory 2:30 a. m. Northeast storm warnings displayed on the New England coast and northwest storm warnings displayed on the Atlantic coast from New York south and on the east gulf coast, Mobile to Key West. Disturbance developing off Cape Hatteras will advance north, northeastward and increase in intensity.

Attractive Bill at Keith's Theatre

RUTH WATSON

Tomorrow will see snail, pep, vim, vigor and several other things at the B. F. Keith theatre, with the Blossom Heath Inn orchestra on the cards. To offer their very latest musical deceptions. They are, without a doubt, the best jazz orchestra Lowell has ever known and their work is absolutely new. Russ Brown and Jean Whitaker make an admirable pair of flutists; and Little Lord Robert, the diminutive actor, gives positively the best work of his career in a little farcical specialty written for him. Earle & Fenton are down for turns in their musical comedy work. Others are Binder & Roy and Hillard & Fay. The picture for the day will be "Fatsy".

The coming week's bill will catch your fancy. When Holt and Myrtle Leonard have an intimate song recital which is one of the sensations of the season. The girls were undressed in McIntyre & Heath's "Red Pepper" and they have taken their act plus some new ideas, and have placed it in the very forefront of vaudeville.

Do you know how the posters of Old King Tut's time worked? Probably not, but Murray & Alan, two youngsters, are going to give their version of it all, and it ought to prove most diverting. Coupled with the old Egyptian quaintness will be some modern talk and some dancing which will tickle the eye.

MEETING AT THE GREENHALGE SCHOOL

In his address at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association in the Greenhalge school yesterday afternoon, Carl E. Chandler, state supervisor of physical education, laid particular stress on the essential importance of good health to boys and girls of the school age, and on the development of this health by sensible and well supervised play and athletics. He also declared it to be the duty of all teachers and parents to see that the children under their care had the benefits accruing from such exercise.

May Beamer, winner of the second prize in the recent essay contest, read her paper on the meaning of "Aristotle".

Officers of the organization for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. Cingman, president; Mrs. Dessett, vice president; Mr. Garvey, treasurer; Miss Dudley, secretary; Miss Collick, chairman of program committee; Mrs. Cluff, chairman of social committee; Miss Corbano, chairman of membership committee.

WILL SING SONGS JENNY LIND MADE FAMOUS

Jenny Lind was probably the most talked-of person in Europe when Barnum, who had seen her or heard her, persuaded her to make a tour of the United States. He risked his own fortune and all he could borrow on the venture. The last few thousand dollars required was furnished by an advertiser in Philadelphia. He was later repaid for his faith in the Swedish flower.

Six months later Jenny Lind came to America. Barnum spoke of her to a railway conductor running between New York and Philadelphia.

"Jenny Lind?" asked the conductor.

"Is she a dancer?"

"The question was, Barnum in his autobiography, entitled me as if his words were used. I then began to prepare the public mind through the newspapers as to the reception of the great Swedish star."

The first-night of that preparation has been for more than seventy years and Jenny Lind has become one of the traditions of this country.

Jenny Lind arrived in New York in September, 1850. The steamer Atlantic that brought her to this country was saluted at Sandy Hook and again as she plied up the narrows. Forty thousand people were at the landing to meet her. Triumphant archedes marked her pathway. Crowds surged around her hotel and cheered for her appearance. Everywhere audiences fought like angry mobs to gain entrance to the concert halls where she sang. People prominent in public life paid her great honors. Mayors and governors presented their compliments in person. President Fillmore called on her.

The Swedish Nightingale broke her contract with Barnum after 55 concerts—she still had 55 to sing—but the two parted friends. While visiting in Boston, she was married to Otto Goldschmidt, composer and pianist who had joined her here. Shortly thereafter they returned to Europe. In 1858 she took up her residence in England, where she died in 1887. It is a curious fact that after her American tour, she rarely sang again professionally.

Frieda Hempel will sing the songs that Jenny Lind made famous in the United States at her Jersey Lind concert to be given at the Auditorium on Jan. 13 at 3:15 p. m.

LAUDER COMING TO LOWELL JAN. 18TH

A writer in the Toronto Saturday night night writer of Sir Harry Lauder, who is shortly to be seen—and heard—here. Lauder, who was a miner, is now a knight, because he made laughter serve the war, and made him a force.

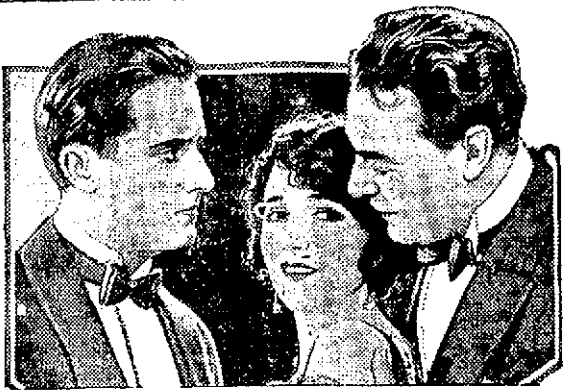

Among the truly religious forces of this time, what is a religious force? It is anything that inspires mankind to greatness, to nobility, to appreciation of the good, to the love of anything which is a touch of heaven in the every day proceedings of every day people. The best of all religions, to me, is the religion of Sir Harry Lauder.

Baby Stars of 1924 Flicker for Glory in the New Year's Twinkling Movie Firmament

Beauty and They're the Season's

Pick

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5.—I have before me—and you have—the pictures of the "Baby Stars of 1924." New sparklers in the Hollywood firmament, heralded by their own astrologers, the publicity outlets of the screen gods, known as the Wampas.

These girls, defying the traditional rule of 17, are the favored ingenues of the screen.

All have had considerable experience. Some already shine distinctly. Others are emerging from nebular glow. Some may reach first magnitude during 1924. If they don't it will not be the fault of the assiduous Wampas.

"Because I—Stutter"

As I have said, I have their pictures before me. A more susceptible man than your indurated Hollywood correspondent would have had his eye knocked out. No wonder my type-writer stutters with pleasant embarrassment in blundering for a "lead" adequate to the subject. Even the best of the machine are all "ohs" and "ahs" and "I's."

Anyway, this is the third annual class of "Baby Stars." It includes Clara Bow, Blanche McHaffey, Elmer Fair, Gloria Grey, Carmelita Geraghty, Margaret Morris, Julianne Johnston, Dorothy Mackaill, Hazel Kerner, Marian Nixon, Lucille Rickson, Alberta Vaughn and Ruth Hatt.

Believe, here are the twinklers of the new year.

Baby stars, here in the waiting world. It's your oyster. Try and open it.

Clara Bow, irresistible brunette flapper, pet enough to contradict her own grandmother, brown bobbed hair and dusky eyes, age 17; born in Brooklyn; won first notice by performance in "Down to the Sea in Ships." All right, Clara, next!

Blanche McHaffey, full of the vim of the picture frame which she wears, showing youth and Irish blue eyes; rapidly winning honors in "The Road to Rome," born in Cincinnati, Hurrah for Chel!

Dorothy Mackaill, English girl who knows just what she wants and how to get it; repressed animation that can warm or chill by turns; blond hair and blue eyes; won fame in "The Fighting Blade"; London bridge would fall until it got there, but it wouldn't worry Dorothy.

Carmelita Geraghty—Spanish patrician, with the dark eyes showing with some of the Spanish romantic leanings inherited from maternal blood, has been attracted to favorable attention in "The Daughter of Mother Machree," born in Rushville, Ind. Another entry for Indiana's "Wives Who."

Margaret Morris, Alert brunette of 19 who has been playing in Universal pictures.

Hazel Kerner, The stately, good-looking, young actress, with auburn hair and a smile that has won her a wide circle of admirers, is a native of Des Moines, Iowa, and plays in "Princess of the Desert," who will be seen in the middle of the year.

Marian Nixon, A pretty, good-looking girl, with the eyes of a star and a smile that is a game apart, in the play of the year, "The Brown Hair and Eyes," recently played by William Fox, "The Girl and the Game," born in Minneapolis. That'll do, thank you, Marian!

Lucille Rickson, A fellow school girl, with auburn hair and a smile that is a game apart, in the play of the year, "The Brown Hair and Eyes," recently played by William Fox, "The Girl and the Game," born in Minneapolis. That'll do, thank you, Lucille!

Alberta Vaughn, A pretty girl from the Blue Grass country, specifically Ashland, Ky., looking eyes and a smile that is a game apart, in the play of the year, "The Brown Hair and Eyes," recently played by William Fox, "The Girl and the Game," born in Minneapolis. That'll do, thank you, Alberta!

Gloria Grey, A demure, seriously old-fashioned girl of blonde hair and daisy blue eyes, syndicated by Metro, 17, now with Famous Players production, born in Sacramento, Cal. Hurrah for the native daughter!

Elmer Fair—Sturdy, long and lanky, her publicity man's words, 20-year-old daughter of old Virginia (Richmond), attracted attention in "The Fighting Blade," picture "The Girl and the Game," born in Minneapolis. That'll do, thank you, Elmer!

Ruth Hatt—Sturdy, pretty, 18; dark hair and eyes, now with Jack White comedies, born in Cripple Creek, Col. And last, but by no means least—

Julianne Johnston—Languorous, and stately; 20; black hair and brown eyes; a classic dancer of unusual talent and exotic charm; played lead with Douglas Fairbanks in his forthcoming "Thief of Baghdad."

"Where the Pavement Ends" at The Rialto

Feature at The Strand, Starting Sunday

DANNY BRENNAN TO TAKE PART IN MUSICAL SHOW

"The Love Test" at The Opera House

Reckless, master director, has again added to his laurels for in "Where the Pavement Ends" he has made a picture that may well be called a masterpiece. It will be, in the opinion of the man who made such splendid pictures as "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Fighting Blade" and others of equal caliber. Mr. Ingram has brought to the screen a picture of the South Seas. The atmosphere and reality of the story is greatly enhanced by the remarkable acting of Alice Terry and Ramon Novarro, who play the leading roles. In "Where the Pavement Ends," Miss Terry plays the part of the daughter of a missionary.

The brilliant days and the calm, moonlit nights of the tropics, the dream of love and romance to the lonely girl. The dream is translated into living reality by her lover of the South Seas. But the path of love is not smooth. She knows that her classmate romance will not meet the approval of the future. Ingram, keeper of a rum shop and the richest man on the island has sworn that he will have her for his own, and Ingram is not a man to give up easily what he has vowed to have. The part of the man who symbolized love to Matilda is played by Ramon Novarro. Rex Ingram's newest screen find, who won the plaudits of movie goers in "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Fighting Blade," Edward Connelley and Harry T. Morey, also are members of the notable cast.

Reckless is the star of "Shootin' for Love." Gibson has starred in many western pictures but the recent vehicles in which he has appeared have been under the leadership of the western leader, practically any other because of their homeliness. "Shootin' for Love" has a theme of intimate interest to several thousand American men today, and a casual interest to the rest of the world that has observed these thousands of men for the first time. It is a picture of the life of the western hero, the high nervous tension of that dread nervous disease, Laurel Gambale, leading woman of many recent Universal productions, appears opposite Gibson in her second role with him. Every veteran will want to see this picture because that affliction is one seen on every hand and its effects are pathetic. The theme of cowardice from himself is what makes the story one of the most absorbing and interesting that Gibson has made for some time.

Lowell patrons of Sunking Inn will recall with pleasure the wonderful once more furnished by these jolly colored boys at the popular Linnell road house. These boys, known as the "Sunking Inn" will be seen and heard at the Rialto Sunday when they will offer a fine vaudeville act in which they will play all the latest dance and popular numbers. Their playing has established them as one of the best acts in the vaudeville circuit. Ray Marie, singing comedian, Coleman and Miles, in "Just a Little Nonsense" and Smith and Dean in "Ain't We Got Fun." The first photograph will be by Pola Negri, in "Men Love Me." The augmented six piece orchestra under the personal direction of Henry B. Lavigne will be in the pit as usual. The performances on Sunday are the same as on week days, continuous, 12:30 to 10:15 p. m.

At Merrimack Sq. Theatre (Continued)

The other feature for the first half of the week is "Mine to Keep," a compelling drama of love and jealousy with intense heart interest and a happy end. The featured players include Bryant Washburn and Mahel Forrest.

The usual excellent shorter features, including a comedy and the News Weekly will round out a typical Merrimack Square program.

Early in 1923, a sensational novel appeared in the New York book market. It was "The Sign of the Cross" by the country and taken the position of the second best seller in the book stores to date. This author was now more talked of than any one in the literary field.

Arthur Train, a New York attorney, jumped into the limelight over night with "The Sign of the Cross." He wrote one of the world's greatest novels out of personal experience. He had lived together from his years of law practice in New York City.

NORMA TALMADGE IN "ASHES OF VENGEANCE"

Norma Talmadge, in the crowning achievement of her screen career. This alone should be sufficient inducement to attract every lover of the better class of motion pictures to The Strand for four days, beginning with matinee on Sunday. "Ashes of Vengeance" is the title of her latest and highest achievement. It is a picture of the life of a woman who has been through a life of suffering and sacrifice. The story is a true one, and the acting is superb. The picture is a masterpiece of the art of the screen.

"Ashes of Vengeance" is the title of her latest and highest achievement. It is a picture of the life of a woman who has been through a life of suffering and sacrifice. The story is a true one, and the acting is superb. The picture is a masterpiece of the art of the screen.

A veritable woman would be preached upon the theme of "Mine to Keep." It is the first part of the second feature for the first part of the week. For to make a marriage successful it must be remembered that each is required to give and forgive, love and forgive. There can be no greater freedom on one side or the other, no double standard, no jealousy without cause. Reason must dominate a happy married life and reason is the thing that a jealous man or woman will never forget.

When "Danny" Brennan was doing duty with the A.E.F. forces in France during the World War, he occasionally found time to entertain his comrades behind the lines. Ever since returning to Lowell with a lieutenant's commission, he has been busy with the duties of his new position. He is a natural comedian, possessed of a pleasant voice and an unusual personality.

"DANNY" BRENNAN

His appearance on any stage gives rise to satisfaction. At present, Danny is preparing a brand new number in the form of a musical show, which he will present in the Memorial Auditorium, on the evening of Jan. 12, in connection with the musical show, "The Girl and the Game." The musical show, "The Girl and the Game," under the auspices of the Lowell Knights of Columbus, is a selection of songs and dances, which is sure to make a decided hit with the patrons of the show, as all the other songs and dances are being arranged by Fred Barry, S. Orr of Boston, an expert in "The Girl and the Game." The proceeds of the show will be donated to the Knights of Columbus charity fund.

JOHN ROWE

The handsome young comedian is musical comedy star of the theatre, with a fondness for good-looking, leading ladies, and the stand-in married folks, who patronize the outstanding hits of each season. All have an amusing during the playing of "The Love Test" at the Opera House. The play is a comedy of the type that is sure to make a decided hit with the patrons of the show, as all the other songs and dances are being arranged by Fred Barry, S. THE SPELLBINDER

Lived Within Appropriations

The announcement by City Engineer Stephen Kearney that all departments under the direction of the Public Service board went through the year 1923 within their appropriations has caused much favorable comment throughout the city. The departments include street maintenance, sewer maintenance, street lighting and ashes and waste collection. These branches did a great amount of work during the year and with all bills paid, after a careful check-up, it is said that a surplus of $10 exists. This will be turned back to the city treasury.

The police department also lived within its appropriation, according to announcement by Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson. This is considered a rare accomplishment, not only because of the great amount of work performed by the honor guard, but also because it was found necessary to add 14 permanent personnel to the payroll during the year. In commenting on the work of the department during the year, Supt. Atkinson says the traffic situation was the greatest problem encountered. It will continue so, adds the superintendent, until an up-to-date traffic ordinance is adopted. He makes a plea for the adoption of the ordinance drawn up by Traffic Supervisor Connors and himself, expressing the belief that if this is done, a great improvement will be brought about.

For Public Service Board

Already three candidates have been mentioned for the position on the public service board to become vacant by the retirement of George Powers. Frederick P. Meley, local contractor of wide experience, Chester Bunch of the Bunch Construction Co., and Newell P. Putnam, formerly connected with the city engineer's office and later superintendent of streets and commissioner of the public buildings department, are the names most prominently mentioned for the place. Of the three, it is said, that Mr. Meley has the pole, but the other men are working zealously in an endeavor to land the appointment.

Auditor Martin Inappreciated

It is a singular tribute to the ability and popularity of City Auditor Daniel E. Martin to find that to date no candidate has appeared to contest his reelection. Mr. Martin has conducted the auditor's office in an eminently satisfactory manner and has co-operated in every way with the mayor in his financial policy. He is always "on the job" and gives personal attention to the smallest details. It would indeed be hard to find a more conscientious official than City Auditor Martin.

Supt. Gormley's Place

The office of superintendent of the Chelmsford Street hospital will be thrown into the political vortex with a few others, although it is one in which frequent changes must inevitably work great injury to the institution and its inmates. There are several candidates for the office, but if the present incumbent is giving satisfaction the interests of the institution and the city would best be served by his reelection. It was "Uncle Robert," the philanthropist who, on a visit to the institution recently, said that Supt. Gormley was the best official he had ever met for an institution of that kind. If there is any truth in that statement, it should count in behalf of the present superintendent. I am informed that a great many improvements have been made at the institution during the incumbency of the present superintendent. Such matters, of course, will have due weight with the officials at city hall in electing a superintendent for the coming year. Mr. Gormley in lieu of his own services and those of his wife, who is an active and devoted worker in the institution, draws the salary of $2200 per annum.

Wage Increases in Lawrence

The Lawrence city council at a special meeting held Wednesday denied the request of Mayor-elect Walter P. P. P. to leave the matter of wage increases for the city laborers over to the 1924 city council for action. The new mayor's plea was answered when the retiring council unanimously adopted the order providing for an increase of 50 cents a day from $5 to $5.50 for all municipal laborers.

The council completely ignored another request of the new mayor made last Monday to reconsider increases

granted to the policeman and firemen and consequently the no wage scales automatically went into effect on January 1.

After granting approximately $150,000 in increases to policeman, firemen and laborers without a murmur, the down-river council started splitting hairs when the proposal to increase the salaries of the fire chief and deputy fire chief came up for consideration. The advertised order provided for a $400 increase for each official, the fire chief from $2800 to $3200, and the deputy from $2600 to $3000. After considerable discussion the order was finally amended to make the chief's salary $3000 and the deputy's $2800.

Butler Not Well Known

Hon. William M. Butler, one of the candidates for the republican nomination for U. S. senator, was in the state senate with Hon. John E. Drury of this city. For a man who is aspiring to a senatorial seat, it is surprising how few people know him throughout the state. There appears to be a new fire in prospect for this nomination. Already Louis A. Coolidge has announced that he will contest with Mr. Butler for the honor, while Congressman Dallinger and Speaker Walker may also enter the fight. Meanwhile Hon. David I. Walsh is watching from the sidelines the battle for the U. S. nomination and it is said he is preparing to conduct a very vigorous campaign for reelection. Senator Walsh for outshines all of the G. O. P. candidates as a campaigner. The junior senator is a persuasive speaker, and with a winning personality he will be hard to beat. As a politician, Senator Walsh is one of the foremost in the state. He has thousands of letters on file at his office in Washington from World War veterans in appreciation of favors extended. His office is manned by four secretaries who are kept busy with correspondence. The senator is always ready to assist his constituents wherever possible.

Democratic Convention

The manner of electing delegates to the democratic national convention of 1924 is herewith given in detail: Presidential primaries for electing delegates to the national convention will be held in 19 states. State primaries for the election of delegates to the national convention will be held in 17 states. State conventions for the election of delegates to the national convention will be held in 17 states. State committees elect the delegates to the national convention in 17 states, and in one state (Louisiana) have the power to determine the method of election.

Illinois and New York are the only states which have both a primary and a convention. In these two states district delegates are elected at a primary and delegates-at-large are elected at a convention.

The presidential primary election in Massachusetts will be held on April 22. The following states will hold conventions to elect delegates to the democratic national convention: Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois (at large only), Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New York (at large only), North Carolina (at large only), Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Wyoming (May 12).

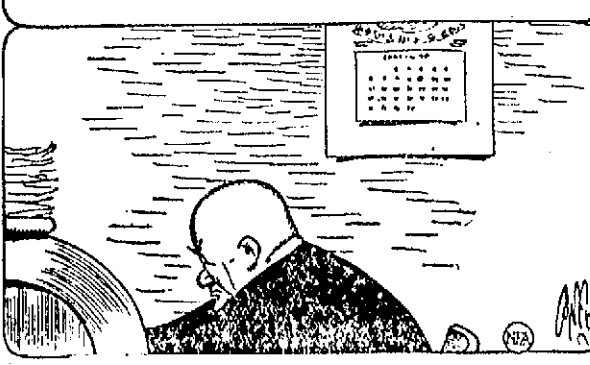

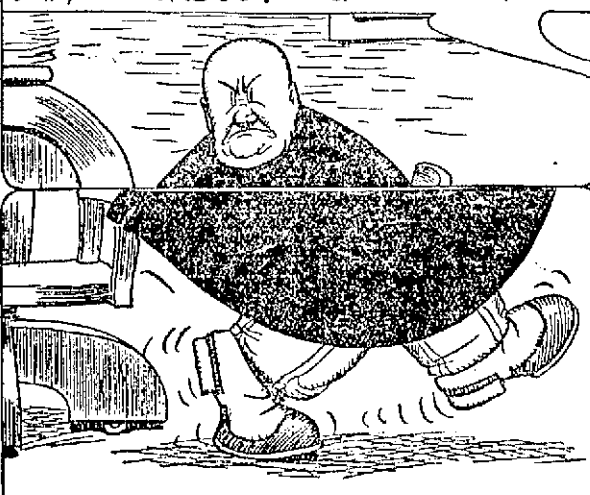

With the exception of Wyoming the date of holding state conventions is fixed by the state committee. There are 1,094 delegates; votes necessary to nominate 723 1-3.

Political Straws From this time forward many people will watch how political straws are blown about. Here is one for a starter: A short time before the disastrous defeat which the republicans received in a number of states a year ago, President Harding's home town elected a democratic mayor. The owner was not a greatly a democrat carried Northampton, Mass., for the same office. That happens to be President Coolidge's town. One of his first jobs was that of mayor of Northampton, before Senator Murray Crane and his little group of millionaire directors of Massachusetts affairs, ran their eyes on Calvin and approved him. From that time forward his political fortune was made.

NEW MILITARY TRAINING EVENTS SCHEDULED

Next Tuesday evening, special drills have been ordered for all reserves at the armory on Westford street, starting at 8 p. m. A feature will be the presence of Lt. Col. George A. Wiegand, U.S.A., commanding officer of the Boston coast defenses, who will arrive in season to give the company members inspection.

Two classes will be started at this drill, one for prospective non-commissioned officers and the other for commissioned officers. Candidates are desired for these classes. Previous service is the only essential for promotion in the branches and competent instructors will be secured. An added attraction at next Tuesday night's rally will be a pistol competition between reservists and national guard members. The former are out to win.

Plans for the coming military ball under reservists' auspices, will be completed at next Monday evening's meeting of the association in city library at 8 p. m. Officers will also be installed for 1924 on that evening. The ball is to be conducted in Memorial Auditorium on Feb. 21st next.

It was announced today that examinations for commissions as second lieutenants in the regular army will be held early in April. A high school education, good health and moral character are about all the human essentials required to win a commission.

A well earned lesson!

I NEVER knew
What saving meant Until one day—
Well, for a year
I was out of work
Hav'n't saved a cent
And—never mind
I'm back at work
And saving—eh?
You bet I am!

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter

Charleston, S. C. — "I was completely run-down and not able to do any housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough." — Mrs. ANNIE YOUNG, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S. C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nationwide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it. Because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is reason why it should help you.

FORTUNE SMILES LATE!

Irony of fate has separated Henry de La Motte, 70, of Chicago, from a fortune left him in Chantilly, France. The aged man is reputed a lineal descendant of French nobility, and when found by his daughter after a 25-year search was peddling pencils in the Windy City.

HEAD OF AIR SERVICE AT PANAMA

PANAMA, Jan. 5.—Major General Mason M. Patrick, head of the United States air service, arrived yesterday to inspect the air defense system of the Panama Canal. Forty planes flew seaward to meet the transport Middel which brought him here. General Patrick expects to return to the United States on Jan. 8.

CANDIDATE FOR SUPT. OF CHARITIES

John J. O'Connell, prominent in ward 4 section of the city and for many years closely identified with local affairs, is a candidate for the position of superintendent of charities, the position now held by Joseph A. Starnby, whose term expires this year. The mayor has not indicated who will receive the nomination.

ZION HERALD EDITOR WILL SPEAK HERE

Rev. L. O. Hartman, D.D., editor of the Zion Herald, who attended the All-Russia conference with Bishop Harkness of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be the principal speaker at the next luncheon meeting of the Lowell Ministers' association, next Wednesday morning at 11:15 o'clock. Many local pastors are planning to attend. The Hartman story is expected to reveal many unusual observations covering his Russian visit. He is an eloquent speaker and an editorial writer of wide vision.

Coach Rockne Says "College Cake Eaters" Must Be Converted Into "He-Men"

FOOTBALL NOT TOO ROUGH FOR HIGH SCHOOL OR COLLEGE, SAYS ROCKNE

Games Will Be Reported in Society Pages Instead of Sporting Pages Unless "Cake-Eaters" Are Converted Into "He-Men" Declares Famous Pilot of Notre Dame

ROCKFORD, Ill., Jan. 5.—Football games will be reported in society pages instead of sporting pages by 1940, Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach told the St. Thomas high school squad at a banquet here last night, unless "college cake-eaters" are converted into "he-men." Football is not too rough for high school or college, Rockne said. "We need the game as it is played today," he added, "if we are to retain the red-blood we inherited from our forefathers."

AMERICA BANKS ON HIS SPEED IN SKATE EVENTS

American pins much of its hopes to the speed skater of Valentine Blais in the coming Olympic tests. Blais is the speed king of the Lake Placid regions and is expected to star in the international contests at Chamonix, France, the latter part of January.

In 1912, Hayward accompanied the team to Stockholm, and in 1920 to Antwerp. In 1920 he had charge of all athletes from west of the Mississippi river.

REDS PAY $30,000 FOR PITCHER

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Jake May, star southpaw pitcher of the Vernon Pacific Coast league club, has been sold to the Cincinnati Nationals. A cash consideration exceeding $30,000 and two players were given for May. Frank Rock, a right handed pitcher, and Walter Kinnick, an infielder, came to Vernon.

PAL MORAN DEFEATS SHUGRUE IN FIFTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, scored another step closer to his goal, a match for Benny Leonard's world title, by defeating Johnny Shugrue of Watertown, Conn., in less than five rounds last night in Madison Square Garden.

Moran punched the game Watertown star so severely that the referee stopped the contest in the fifth round to save Shugrue from further punishment. Moran then won the match technically by a knockout. Moran employed a right uppercut effectively, also a straight right and a left hook, and although he punched Shugrue at will, he could not finish him. It was expected, however, that Shugrue could not stand much longer when the referee stopped between them and pronounced Moran the victor.

PICK SPOTS FOR BENTLEY
National league players must that Jack Bentley will never be rated as a great left hander. His lack of lightning speed makes him a pitcher of little use against a team with a majority of right-handed hitters. Bentley is the type of pitcher who must have his spots picked for him, and no manager can do that better than Denny McLaughlin of the Cardinals.

HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE DEFEATS ALUMNI

The high school basketball team made an auspicious debut in the Paige street annex last night, by defeating the alumni in the first game of the season by the score of 18 to 14. It was a close contest all the way through, but the varsity team got the jump in the opening chapter and maintained a lead throughout. Louis was the only man on the high school team to register more than one basket, while Al Ratchin was the individual star for the alumni. The latter's floor work was a revelation. The lineup and summary:

LOWELL MILLS ARE OPERATING ON BETTER SCHEDULES

New Cloth Products Under Appleton Designations—
Healthy Activities Noted at the Massachusetts—
Lowell Mills Selecting Names for New Products

Raw cotton shipments from outside, wholesalers selling in Lowell textile mills were much smaller in number of total bales this month, owing to curtailment of local orders, yet more spindles were operated in Lowell textile mills this week than last.

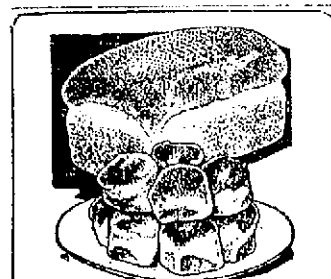

The Massachusetts mills have increased production, as the long lines of workers entering the gates on Thursday and Friday morning indicated. Lowell-made fabrics of many descriptions are in better demand than ever.

Reports of "active spindles" covering Lowell textile manufacturers and contained in some so-called "national" summary reports, are not always accurate and are not accurate today. Lowell spindles were said in one publication last week to be dwindling at the present time. The fact is that more spindles were operated in Lowell mills last week than have been actively engaged in old and new cloth since last October.

Cardigans, sheetings, shirtings, velvets, cotton blankets, gingham, miscellaneous converting goods, some lines of underwear and hosiery, special khaki contract goods, hosiery in the woollens, graded goods in the sheer cottons—these are some of the Lowell-made specialties in which, during the past ten days, there has been a wider and healthier demand.

The Sun has been told of splendid orders received in mills devoting most of their attention just now to hosiery and goods of heavy grades. Bolivia contracts have many weeks to run, also. There is no let-up in the corduroy demand and more than one Lowell mill prefers to continue operating rather than let present closely regulated and steady orders for these goods stack up.

New Appleton Products
Are the Lowell textile agents sleeping? A real investigation of street talk criticism referring to "Lowell stagnation" would banish most rumors about stagnant management resting upon their oars. The Sun's announcement some weeks ago that variously

FEDERAL CONSTITUTION

Bill Sent to Washington for Sections Now Minus Adequate Legislation

Louis A. Coolidge has drafted and sent to Washington for presentation to the house and senate the following bill providing for the enforcement of certain sections of the federal constitution for the enforcement of which there is now no adequate legislation.

It is enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States in congress assembled:
Section 1. Whoever shall for beverage purposes manufacture, sell, transport, import or export intoxicating liquor within, into or from the United States or any part thereof, in violation thereof shall for a first offense be fined not more than $1000, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both; for a second or subsequent offense shall be fined not less than $1000 nor more than $2000 and be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than five years, and such liquor shall be forfeited to the United States.

Section 2. Whoever shall deny or abridge the right of any citizen of the United States or any state to vote on account of race, color, sex, or previous condition of servitude shall, for a first offense, be fined not more than $1000 or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both; for a second or subsequent offense, shall be fined not less than $1000 nor more than $2000 and be imprisoned not less than one month nor more than five years, and such person shall be denied the right of suffrage in any state or national election.

Section 3. All laws inconsistent with section 1 or section 2 of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the passage and approval of the act.

NEW STAR HAS ARISEN IN GIRL SCOUT WORLD

"Character, ability, health, happiness and service are the five points of a new star which has arisen in the Girl Scout world. For 12 years now scouts entering this informal play school have been trained in a triple ideal: home, health and citizenship, rising by degrees from tenderfoot scout to first class, then after a period of probation and study and some outstanding achievement or service to the community, reaching the highest rank possible in this movement, that of golden eagle scout.

To this present plan there has now been added an additional unit, the National Order of the Golden Eagle, an organization intended to include all those who attain this highest rank, and to preserve through its membership the ideals for which it and the whole scout organization stands. "To the three scout ideals—home, health, citizenship, two more are added—character and happiness.

"The general aim of this movement and of this new order in particular, according to its founder, Mrs. Arthur Chateau of New York, is to produce the "nearest possible approach to the perfect American girl" and these five points are taken as "the fundamentals upon which a scout must build. "Character is defined as the ability to stick to what one thinks is right, and to be guided by someone else's opinion. Ability is explained as "the ability to do things with heart and hands."

Health is a one-word embodiment of the idea that "a golden eagle should radiate health, both of the body and of the mind." Happiness is the sum result of all these and the by-product of them; and service to the community is "that which justifies self-development, and gives it an enabling purpose."

It is intended moreover that this new Order of the Golden Eagle shall be an auxiliary to the officers and other adult leaders in the Girl Scout organization, a source from which commissioners, directors, troop captains and other workers can draw assistance and future leaders to take their places. Above all, however, it is intended to embody the principle that when a Girl Scout has attained this highest rank, her work is not done; that the great principles of duty to God and country, helpfulness to others, and obedience to the scout laws, are lessons that no scout can fully learn as long as she lives.

It is interesting to note that this new order was founded in recognition of the fact that the scout organization in this state is contemporary in age with the national organization, and is successfully in operation to a degree not equaled in any other state of the union. It is planned to extend the order, however, to include eventually every golden eagle scout throughout the United States in obedience to these facts. At present the order includes 50 golden eagles in Massachusetts, one in Connecticut and four in Rhode Island.

It is in most of the corporation mills little chance can be expected until results of the heavyweights election season are known.

The Price of Cotton

The present price of cotton has done one thing. It has made uncertain just whether the openings of fall lines of Lowell milled goods and dress cloths for the jobbing trade will take place about the middle of next month or later than that. Some agents say prices won't be fairly ready until February.

The annual industry meeting of the National Wholesale Dry Goods association, is to be held about January 15 in New York.

Committee have been appointed by the American Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers association to confer on the matter of holding meetings of place goods lines nearer to the time. The goods are actually set up into garments. Garment manufacturers desire a later date than some cloth-makers will agree to.

WASHINGTON SEETHING WITH QUESTIONS BEFORE CONGRESS

Two of Them Can Be Acted Upon During This Session—Democratic Leaders Prepare for Convention—Johnson Breaks Out—Wilson in Bad Shape

(Special to the Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—With the New Year came the first winter weather for the Capital City.

With the New Year also came congress, after its ten days' holiday.

With congress comes war to the knife on matters political, partisan, national and international, as seen by the various factions now assembling under the great white dome.

Shall the bonus come before the tax bill? Shall the tax bill follow the Mellon plan? Shall the women win in their special privilege bills or their precisely opposite measure, the Full Equality and no favor to women bill?

What about Merchant Marine and the Shipping Board? What about modifying the Volstead Act?

At this moment there are also threatened "investigations" enough in sight to take up all the time from now till the National conventions in June, if the voices of the protestants are listened to.

Everybody seems ready for a scrap, the leaders being the head men of varying political factions or professional reformers and the range of subjects runs all the way from politics to men's underwear.

Men unfriendly to Gen. Wood are urging an investigation of the financial management of his son; dry men want the wet investigation; wet men want the dry investigation. There is much talk of existing and of missing wet "dirt," but thus far no one has really seen such a thing. Who shall preside over the important senate committee on Interstate Commerce is still a vexed question. Shall congress listen to the clamor for a bonus for all veterans regardless of the needs, or shall it heed the cry of the sick and wounded men, who beg that they shall be first cared for? There is only one safe guess in all of this, and that is that "will be a hard fought and bitter battle all along the line, and the 67th congress won't prove a rest cure for its members.

Democratic Activities
With the Democratic National committee to meet here within two weeks and the selection of time and place for holding the convention then to be decided, the democratic political forces are in the air. At that moment it is predicted here that either Theodore Roosevelt or McAdoo will be in the front row, with only dark horses likely to cut them out.

This year the meeting will be marked by the attendance of many prominent party leaders, who will take a prominent part in "fixing things" for the convention. The democratic women have picked out headquarters in Washington by opening a Democratic Women's club where they can meet by themselves or where they can call on men of their party into conference. They will be in the clubhouse January 15th which is the date for the committee meeting. "Of course social affairs will be subordinate to politics," say the ladies in charge. "But all the same there will be plenty of social occasions to make it interesting to all visitors." Men from out of town can rummage around hotels and find some of their kind, but for women it has not been easy to find out who is on hand, and the meetings are really under way. Among the goers of the Women's club are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Mrs. Cordell Hull, wife of the chairman of the National committee, and others who are called themselves prominent in democratic politics, or who have husbands who take the lead in New England is represented on the board of governors by Mrs. Peter Gerry, wife of the Rhode Island senator. The women propose to make the club a place, not only for women to go and exchange views or to get a day's rest.

New Senator Expected
Massachusetts has become a center in the democratic side of the senate. There is nothing he likes better to do than to see his first attempt to attend a democratic rally, when a small boy, very much in the light of a three-year-old child, in company with several other small boys of his own age, all neighbors of his in Clinton, tried to speak into the hall when the senator's older brother John was to make a speech preceding a torch-light procession. Twelve-year-old David, with the rest of this "gang" were about to slip in, when a hairy policeman grabbed the lot and shunted them to a side-track, leaving the young mischief-maker to make his way home.

Auto to Woodrow Wilson
The gift of a specially constructed automobile from friends to former President Wilson, has brought to the front the deplorable physical condition of Mr. Wilson. It is said that he has been unable to get into the car, and that it is very difficult to enter the doors of a closed car. In fact, that there was not room enough through which to lift him to the seat. His physician wants him to get into the car every day he can, so his near friends, in planning a birthday tribute, was his 67th—decided to give him a "ride" in a car with extra wide entrance, specially upholstered chairs and some other comforts to meet the needs of its former president.

Maxim Johnson's Politics
So Maxim Johnson continues to occupy the center of the stage. But in which end will he be classified if he continues to sit with the republicans and talk "conservative"? The Vermont millionaire, who has been in Minnesota as a private citizen, exactly that sort of thing. When accepting a seat on the senate floor, he went down into the arena a few rights ago and spoke at a banquet where the topic of his address was supposed to be fruit culture. But did the arm senator stick to that topic? Not a bit of it. Instead, he sponsored the cause of a democratic candidate for the senate from that state in the person of the erstwhile variety actress, Mrs. Della Jewell Brown, now the widow of the late Mr. Brown. Mrs. Brown was the other speaker and after announcing her candidacy for the approaching primaries, she made a stumpy talk which was greeted with great enthusiasm. Then the Minnesota man forgot all about fruit growing and standing up at the table shouted in his best megaphone voice and with a strange mixture of "Ys and Ys" "My Yimminy, she's yumped into the ring—and I'm coming down to help elect her to the senate."

Equality Amendment
The Equality amendment put forward by the National Women's party is meeting wide opposition both from men and women who believe the old standards of family life should be continued, and also by the working women of the country, who now benefit by certain laws tending to relieve women from standing or working too long hours.

The spellbinders of the Women's National party are shouting loud for the bill, the capital is filled with their lobbyists, but all the same the General Federation of Women's clubs, the labor unions and many other organizations are working against the bill, which has been introduced but not yet been brought up for consideration, in committee or on the floor.

RAILWAY CONDUCTORS

Former Lowell Man is Re-elected Conductors'
Legislative Agent

Harmon T. Drew, popular railroad employee of the Boston & Maine railroad for thirty years and well known in Lowell trainmen's circles, has been re-elected agent to represent the legislative board of the Massachusetts organization of the Order of Railway Conductors. This is Mr. Drew's fifteenth successive year as representative of the railroad conductors in all legislative matters affecting the men employed in all sections of Massachusetts.

No railroad of the past and present is better known than "Harris" Drew, who is popularly called in closest friend circles. All the old-timers and many of the latest pay-roll additions have a fond affection for Mr. Drew, who is ever working in their behalf in legislative anti-poll tax chambers, endeavoring to block legislation affecting railroad prosperity and those who promote it, and adding good laws that promote the welfare of everybody concerned in the long railroad world.

Conductor George S. Shoy has been a friend of Brother Drew for some thirty years. The conductor-legislative agent used to reside in this city, getting his boarding and lodging in well known railroad men's haunts of former days along Middlesex and Cambridge streets.

Mr. Shoy will tell you all about Harmon T. Drew, who first started out as a railroad man in Lowell. He was a most familiar figure on the busy old local and "extra" both passenger and freight as it happened to be, that chance-chance over the sparkling tracks of the old Boston & Maine railroad from the ancient depot that still stands today on Central street at Tower corner.

The Drew timetable took him, at the start, invariably to Lawrence and return, but there was another daily run from Central street, also. This was a train service that started from Lawrence, rolled into Lowell for a short stop, then went back to Lawrence, but returning via Lowell. A "lowell" train, or "Mountain" was a popular "hook" in those days, taking the Lowell-Lawrence roughshod from rails regularly for some time and making the curves into the old Lowell railroad station to Tower corner. Lowell men when slippery rails were the rule.

Bodies of old railroad days in the old "B & M" station on Central street, are still to be found. It is fast getting to be a landmark for direction purposes. First visitors to Lowell are told to go up Middlesex street until you reach the old Boston & Maine railroad station, turn to your left, and go. The train running days of Harmon Drew, indeed in many now have no hopefulness in and around the old depot, and whenever he comes to Lowell he walks up and looks it over quite intimately, according to his friends who always greet him on his regular "delishious" trips.

Harmon Drew was not present at yesterday's meeting and annual election of the Order of Railway Conductors, but to his regret, of course. New officers were elected for 1924 as follows:

OPEN CRUSADE AGAINST UNLICENSED HEALERS

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 4.—A grand jury crusade against persons who practice the healing art in Connecticut without having been licensed as practitioners in any regular school of medicine is said to be fore-set by the action of that body yesterday in compelling George F. Cogswell, who has been conducting the "Hartford Institute of Therapeutics" here and who usually wrote his name with the prefix "Rev. Dr." to close the institution. Three patients in the "Institute" were discharged last night. Cogswell had styled himself a "magnetic healer" and had appeared as a witness before the grand jury. After a long examination yesterday by the jury, Cogswell went to the "Institute" and displayed a sign "closed."

In the evening the patients were discharged. Cogswell, it is understood, had told the jury that he "healed" the sick by spiritual uplift.

The jury is now in recess until next week but the office of the state's attorney was busy today with various summonses to witnesses, one of whom is expected to be Alfred W. Lowrie of this city, who had advertised himself

DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVER JAILED

PUTNAM, Conn., Jan. 4.—One year in jail, the heaviest penalty for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor yet imposed in Windham county, was given by Superior Court Judge George E. Haysan today, to Edward John of Willimantic. The defendant was a second offender and figured in an automobile accident at Danielson on September 22.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF POISON LIQUOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Poison liquor added to its toll of victims today James Welch, of Norwood, Mass., and William Manning, of Phelps, N. Y., who died in furnished rooms in Brooklyn. Efforts to save them were unsuccessful. The deaths brought the total in New York from poison liquor to 20 since Christmas eve.

NEW WAGE AGREEMENT FOR COAL MINERS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 4.—(By the Associated Press) Bituminous miners and operators of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and western Pennsylvania will be called to meet at Jacksonville, Fla., on Monday, Feb. 11, "for the purpose of negotiating a new wage agreement to become effective on April 1, 1924." It was decided at a meeting of representatives of union miners and operators here today.

MEXICAN REBELS HOLD ALL OIL FIELDS

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 4.—All of the Mexican oil fields are now in the possession of the rebels, according to an official despatch received here today by Adolfo Jimenez from De la Huerta headquarters at Vera Cruz.

CENTRALIZED CONTROL OF EXPENDITURES SCORED

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—Criticism of the present method of control of expenditures at the Massachusetts Agricultural college by the state commission on administration and finance is contained in the annual report of President Kenyon L. Butterfield of the college, which was placed before the trustees today.

"All of our requests," the report says, "have received consideration and the members of our staff have been given courteous personal treatment. We are not, however, reconciled to the essential unsoundness of the present scheme of centralized control of expenditures. Several decisions of the commission this year have been particularly trying."

The report says that three bulletins of the experiment station have been refused publication. As "an unpleasant illustration of the way in which the commission can control fundamental policies," the report cites the fact that a vacancy in the office of nutrition specialist in the extension service had existed since September, because the commission questioned the policy of the college continuing this work while the state board of health also had a nutrition worker. Later the commission indicated its willingness to allow the position to stand but materially reduced the salary and the college officers have appealed the matter to the governor and council.

In reply to President Butterfield, Homer Loring, chairman of the commission, said today that in the commission's opinion, "the Massachusetts Agricultural college, for which the state appropriates each year approximately $1,000,000 needs financial control and supervision just as much as any other state institution."

"The legislature," he said, "has authorized and instructed the commission to see that this money is properly expended. Printing, travel, and additional improvements have been supervised and need supervision. What Dr. Butterfield really argues for, is a private treasury, filled from the public funds."

N. H. TO BAR NORMAND FILMS

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 4. Alphonse "Al" Hester, treasurer of the New Hampshire Motion Picture Theatre Association, today announced that the association would bar future pictures featuring Mabel Normand, in the state of New Hampshire. The Granite State was the first to bar Actresses films as a result of her arrest.

1000 GALLONS OF ALCOHOL SEIZED

REVERE, Jan. 4. A seizure of 1000 gallons of alcohol was made by the police today after a power boat crew had dumped the contraband on a pier. Leo Bronstein of Boston and Harry Miller of Malden, truckmen, were arrested on the charge of keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor.

BUTTONS FOR TRIMMING

These are the dresser. Buttoned all the way down the front or all the way down the back—depending upon the suppleness of your arms. The buttons on the back models require a special button.

Actually favored by young women, buttons are appearing on campus, school, business school and home. They are made usually of wool jersey, but often, too, of serge, chambray, tulle or flannel.

MARY DUFFY

Joseph Barry and Mary Duffy, members of the trio implicated in the Cattle fur theft of yesterday morning, spent last night in cells at police headquarters. Shortly after they were brought here from Woburn by Police Superintendent Atkinson and Detective Capt. Petrie a bondsman appeared anxious to bail the couple.

Bail was set at $10,000 each and the high figure apparently precluded the possibility of the couple obtaining liberty. The prospective bondsman when informed of the figure set, drew a long breath and departed for the depot. Police questioned the couple at length yesterday afternoon in an effort to connect them with fur robbers.

les which have taken place recently in Boston and vicinity. During the evening the prisoners were turned out of their cell several times while efforts to identify them were made by theft victims from other cities.

Barry kept a stiff upper lip throughout the questioning but the strain commenced to tell on Miss Duffy shortly after her arrival here and the ordeal of the Woburn court. She went almost continuously from her arrival here.

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 2

"Flip!" Jack shouted this as he looked up into the baggage car which was hooked on just behind the great engine. The baggage man had opened the car door and Flip sped his little monster. Of course Jack immediately forgot all about the engine taking on water and turned his attention to his dog.

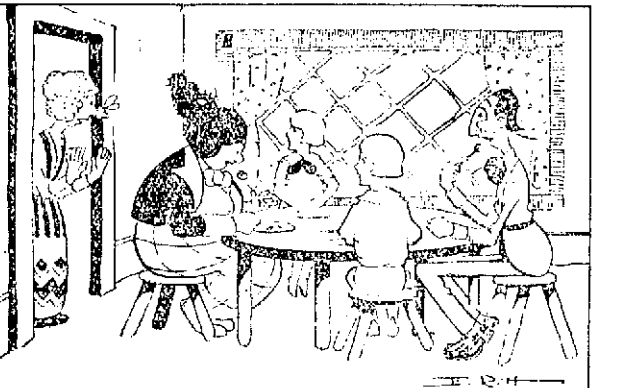

Flip's crate was just near enough to the baggage car door so that Jack could reach in and put him. The baggage man smiled as he watched the little adventurer. Then he said, "Hop into the car, sonny. I suppose this is your dog." "You bet it is," replied Jack. Then, into the car he went.

Flip wagged his tail and whined as Jack got down on his knees, on the baggage car floor and talked to him. "I just wish I could ride all the way right here with you," said the little adventurer. And at that moment the great train started to move. Jack jumped quickly up. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE MAID IN THE GARDEN HAD A BANGOR AROUND HER NOSE, AND A SPECTACLE SHE WAS.

Suddenly Misses Sprat sniffed. She smelled something. "Baron trying?" "My hands!" she cried, springing up from the floor like a bouncing rubber ball. "Can I believe my nose? Do I smell bacon or do I not smell bacon, my dears?" "Yes, you do," said Nancy. "I just had to try out some of the new tin things and the nice little steaks. And as the butcher man just left a nice piece of bacon, I decided to slice some off and fry it in my new frying pan."

"I always did say Thursday was my lucky day," declared Misses Sprat. "Would you mind putting on another piece for me?"

"No, indeed!" said Nancy, tying on her kitchen apron again. "I'll just love to."

"And may I inquire?" went on Misses Sprat. "If it is quite, quite fat?"

"I'm afraid it has some streaks of lean in it," said Nancy, "but you can cut them out if you wish."

It was Nick who had the happy thought of sending for Jack Sprat himself to come and help the party out. He ran across the street and brought Master Jack over in a Hov.

They were all having a fine time, when a sharp rap sounded on the front door. Before anybody could answer it it opened itself, and there stood the Maid-in-the-Garden.

PHONOFILM IS GREAT SUCCESS

Combination of Radio and Motion Pictures Successfully Demonstrated

New Device Registers Every Sound Made by Actor—Explanation by Inventor

CLEVELAND, Jan. 5.—The phonofilm, a combination of radio and motion pictures, has been demonstrated successfully to those who have heard and seen the talking pictures.
It is his object to produce motion pictures in which the characters speak for, before given this explanation of the process:

"In the studio a motion picture is taken in the usual manner but in accordance with the camera lens, which registers every sound made by the actor.
A wire from the microphone passes through an amplifier to a gas-filled tube which produces a light beam. The light from this tube fluctuates in exact accordance with the amplified telephonic currents which originate from the actor's lips.

"A very fine slit is located near the negative film through which these fluctuating light rays are registered on the sensitive emulsion of the negative as the lines which are actual photographic sound waves and, being on the same film as the picture, insure perfect synchronism at all times.

"A positive print is then made in the usual manner. In reproducing, a small attachment is placed on the standard motion picture machine. This attachment contains a small incandescent lamp which is placed in front of the photographed sound waves on the film.
This light passing through the round
slit, falls upon a photo-electric cell, its brilliancy being governed by the density of the photographed sound waves. The photo-electric cell's electrical resistance at any instant is determined by the amount of light falling upon it.

"The telephonic current from the cell is then passed through the audio amplifier where it is built up hundreds of thousands of times. Thus, the actor's words are converted into tele-
graphically registered on the film and eventually transformed back again into telephonic currents which are made audible by the loud speaker.

"This motion picture must be protected upon a screen to project the light waves necessary to project the sound in order that it may appear to come from the actor's lips. This is done simply by running a lamp cord from the machine to the screen, where a loud speaker is attached."

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN A DANGEROUS FIRE

Police Officer Bernard Judge was responsible for averting what might have proven a disastrous fire in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Ritchie, 128 Hampshire street, shortly before noon yesterday.

While patrolling his beat in the Hampshire street section of Central-ville, Officer Judge noticed smoke issuing from an open window in an upstairs room of the house. He went to the door with the intention of notifying the occupants, but found that no one was home. He afterwards learned that Mrs. Ritchie was out shopping at the time.

Opening a door, the officer found practically every room in the house filled with smoke and discovered a brisk blaze in one of the rooms. He sent in a telephone call to the fourth street engine house and, apparently, soon arrived to quench the flames.
District Chief Egan also put in an appearance. It was later learned that Mrs. Ritchie, who had had discarded clothing to a junk dealer earlier in the morning, or just before the fire was started by a lighted cigarette stub thrown on the floor.

CHELMSFORD GRANGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

New officers for Chelmsford grange were installed on Thursday evening.
A large number of strangers from outside towns participated in the ceremonies and entertainment that followed.
Arrangements were made by Mrs. M.
W. Boulton, secretary of the grange.
The new officers are as follows:

Frank Lupton, master; James Peabody, overseer; Mrs. Lena Taylor, lecturer; R.
C. Hazlett, steward; Mrs. A. A. Scudliffe, treasurer; Frank J. Spaulding, treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Kennedy, secretary; Elmer Todd, gate keeper; Mrs. Frank Lupton, clerk; Mrs. Elsie Adams, reporter; Miss May Piles, Flora, Mrs. L.
Pearson, body assistant; Stewart Perley W. Kimball, executive committee man for three years; A. Allen, committee man for one year.

5000 U. S. RIFLES GO TO MEXICO

Also 5,000,000 Rounds of Ammunition and Eight
DH-V Airplanes

Announced Details of Sale—
50 P. C. Cash, Remainder in 30 Days

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The commander of Port San Houston and Port Elizaveta have been ordered to begin delivery immediately to designated Mexican agents of 5,000,000 Remington ammunition. Similar orders have gone to the army service depot at Fairfield, Ohio, for delivery of eight surplus DH-V airplanes which are to be shipped to the foreign under arrangements to be made by the Mexican government.

Secretary Weeks in announcing completion of arrangements for the sale to the Mexican government on a payment basis of 50 per cent. cash and the remainder in 30 days, said the surplus war materials involved did "not cover the entire list requested originally," but that the Mexican authorities had found they would meet "present requirements."

The administrative position that the transaction does wholly within an established policy of aiding a neighboring state in the maintenance of order and governmental stability within its border was reiterated yesterday at the White House. No such sale would be made if it was emphasized, if the transaction were intended for use in aggressive warfare.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE PARTY WAS BIG SUCCESS

The annual Yuletide party under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women, always one of the big social events on the calendar, was held last evening in Liberty hall. Memorial Auditorium, and proved a greater social success than previous parties conducted by this thriving organization. This is saying a great deal when it is taken into consideration that the league has sponsored some noteworthy events in the past.

Last night's affair was attended by several young people home from school and academy for the Christmas holidays and their presence added a youthful and zesty air to the occasion.
Liberty hall was appropriately decorated in Christmas colors with streamers of various hues suspended from the balconies. The orchestra circle was enclosed with palms, completing one of the most attractive decorative schemes
yet arranged in this hall.

General dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock until midnight, an all-star orchestra, composed of Harvard students forming the musical team. Miss Catherine W. Conroy was in general charge, assisted by the young women of the league. Mrs. M. J. Shorkey was chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Mrs. John A. Connor, Mrs.
Fred Lamoureux, Mrs. Martin Maher,
Miss Margaret Conroy and Miss Mary Wood. Edward J. Saunders was chairman of the dance committee.

POLITICS WARMING UP IN DRACUT

The time for filing nomination papers for Dracut town officers expired last night. Late candidates who had waited papers within the time limits included those of George P. Kearney, democrat, who seeks the highway com-missionership; Leo P. Marshall, democrat; Walter J. Hickford, republican; Edward A. Dickinson, republican; and James P. Anglin, republican, candidates for school committee. Candidates for constable and tax collector: Rose Peabody, republican, and Dr. Atkinson Y. Isherwood, republican, candidates for library trustee, and Albert H. Coburn, republican, who would like the community constabulary job.

Arthur W. Colburn, for many years tax collector of Dracut, failed to file any nomination papers for re-election much to the surprise of many Dracut townspeople. However, the collector, in a public statement today, explained the reason why. He stated that he had been suffering from matters incident to the closing of the financial year that he overlooked filing his nomination papers until after 5 p. m. yesterday.
He advised the voters, nevertheless, to use caution as to the necessity of writing in on the primary ballot your choice of a candidate this year for tax collector.

FOOTBALL TEAM HOLDS ANNUAL PARTY

Members of the football team, which represented the teams of Centralville during the past season, entertained a large crowd in Liberty hall last evening on the occasion of their annual dance. The hall was attractively decorated for the event, orange and black,
the team's colors, being prominent.
Fred Greenough, treasurer of the club, was general manager of last night's affair, assisted by the following: William S. Crossland, assistant general manager; Edward LeVine, floor director; William Mulholland,
assistant floor director; Leo McGowan, John Golden and John Martin, chairmen.

The band was Henry Chabrier, E.
McDonald, J. McDonald, Edward Clancy, James Curley, Thomas Curley, Frank Tatum, Thomas Norcross, Thomas
Knight, Henry Auburn, Mortimer Riley,
James Gardner, John Campbell, Henry Nolan, Dennis Mulholland and William Dudley.

SACO-LOWELL SHOPS

Curtainments Announced in Biddeford, Me.—No Further Curtainments Here

Saco-Lowell shops management announced today from the offices of the Biddeford, Me. departments, that the making shops in that city, employing about 1300 men, would start next Monday on a four days a week schedule. Going to college in business management, has decided upon this curtailing in production for the present, according to dispatches from Biddeford.

So far as known today, no further curtailing is planned at the local shops. Before the shut-down of the Dutton street plant just before Christmas, Agent Foster announced that operations would be continued on Monday, Jan. 7, with production and employment rolls about the same as were required before the inventory shut-down came.

the world. Sgt. Timothy J. Kimball, enlisted officer in charge of local recruiting for the federal army, finds a slowing up in applicants for army berths at the present time, although this year's totals of men actually taken into the army branches are considered very good indeed.

Army recruits are now taken between the ages of 18 and 40, but the majority of those accepted average in years from 18 to about 27. In years considered more "prosperous" in Lowell army enlistment areas, recruits to the number of more than 500 have been forwarded to stations for active duties.

Practically all of the local recruits last year passed physical and mental examinations in the Boston barracks of the First Army Corps. Line officers have congratulated Sgt. Kimball for his alertness and care in selecting in fact, turned many applicants away because of conditions that prevented their being accepted. In no case has an applicant failed to report at headquarters after being dispatched, with railroad tickets and directions, to barracks assigned.

Sgt. Kimball said today that the Lowell field is as good as any in New England, although the recruiting station looks on records this year for many obvious reasons. Several veterans of the Fifth regiment formerly located in the Maine position in the Rhine, were accepted for re-enlistment last year. Berthons are now being accepted for all arms. Second Lieut. Michael Francis Kearney, recently returned to the front corps here in Boston, an inspector for this district. He has expressed high regard for Lowell as a recruiting district
station and has often commended
Sgt. Kimball for dutiful, earnest
work performed in second to none fashion in New England recruiting offices.

HE USED TO CATCH COLD VERY OFTEN

Now She Takes Father John's Medicine and keeps Well

"My little daughter, Florence, less than two years old, used to have colds, and cough, and a little wheezing. I gave her Father John's Medicine and she is much better. I think it is a good thing to have in the house if you have children," testified Mrs.
John E. O'Brien, Providence, R. I.

Many families depend on Father John's Medicine to keep well and strong during the winter months. It gives them healthful strength to ward off colds. Adv.

TO HOLD PARISH REUNION IN ASSOCIATE HALL

Members of St. Columba's parish are looking forward with eager and pleasurable anticipation to the evening of Friday, Jan. 15 when the parish reunion is to take place in Associate hall. The pastor of St. Columba's, Rev.
John J. Powers, has been assured that nothing will be left undone in the endeavor to make the reunion one long to be remembered.

Entertainment features and dancing will form the major part of the evening's program. A feature attraction will be the donation of the living room furniture suite now on exhibition at Moller's store, Middle street, in the award of which great interest has been manifested. This suite is the capital prize of the reunion.

Andrew Molloy has general charge of arrangements for the affair and is promising that it will eclipse all previous functions from every standpoint.
A wonderful esprit de corps has been shown by the parishioners of St. Columba's church. It is expected to break ground in the spring for the new church, plans for which are now being permeated by William O'Connell, archbishop of the diocese.

He has expressed high regard
for Lowell as a recruiting district
station and has often commended
Sgt. Kimball for dutiful, earnest
work performed in second to none
fashion in New England recruiting
offices.

The sergeant lays the recent falling off in new army enlistments to propagandists, who, he says, have increased their campaigns against army recruiting activities. He declares that some of the methods adopted by propa-gandists working for good wages are detrimental in every way and are based many times upon untruths, particularly when they refer to army life in many branches today. The sergeant declares that this propaganda has aroused leading army officials, who are prepared to meet it more than half way from now on.

Navy Recruiting in 1923
The "navy year" enlistment campaign in Lowell runs from July 1 to the following July. The record of
new recruit tallies kept last season,
at the local navy recruiting station
by Chief Water Tender H. Fredericks,
covers only that period between July 1, 1923, and Dec. 1, 1923. The enlistment numbers and months follow:

July, 1923, 12; August, 11; September, 1; October, 1; November, 2;
December, 5. Totals, 36.

Officer Fredericks is well satisfied with the naval enlistment situation in Lowell and vicinity. He has to compete with many large outside incentives, for there are stations now located in Haverhill, Lynn, Boston,
New Bedford, N. H., and also in Lowell, and many applicants take advantage of enlistment who might come to Lowell for examinations.

The naval officer, nevertheless, feels that the six months reported are good enough to suit anybody, and he is probably right, as the Lowell naval station today heads all sub-stations enlisted in Lowell from July 1 to the following July. The record of
new recruit tallies kept last season,
at the local navy recruiting station
by Chief Water Tender H. Fredericks,
covers only that period between July
1, 1923, and Dec. 1, 1923. The enlistment numbers and months follow:

Many applicants for navy berths were turned down in the last few months.
The average accepted was in preference of older men to the navy. The navy has a monthly quota of six enlistments, which are generally easy to fill. Applicants 17 and 18 years of age must have parental consent before acceptance. The age limit requires recruits for older ages run from 18 to 35 years. There have been numerous recruitments during the season. Accepted men are sent all over the world with china and Turkish port assignments, not at all unusual. The navy department is busy these days and wants only the best. First enlistments are sent to Newport, R. I., for eight weeks training. Applications come in frequently for trade school assignments.
Aviation and radio also have their following followers among younger seamen. Enlistments in early all branches of the service are on the cards for navy career selections.

Chief Water Tender Fredericks is proving to be an energetic recruiting officer, readily unswayed upon naval subjects and obedient problems, and has made a record in Lowell thus far that has won him high commendation from superiors who rely upon this en-

STREET CONSTRUCTION

City Engineer Estimates New Street Construction Cost
at $550,000

Based upon the amount and cost of work done last year and upon a tentative schedule of work for 1924, City Engineer Stephen Kearney feels that new street construction in Lowell this year will cost in the neighborhood of $550,000.

The tentative program Engineer
Kearney now has drawn up is to a large extent a systematic continuance of the programs of 1922 and 1923. Before any definite or final approval is given it the matter of new street work will be discussed with the council in compliance with a request forwarded by that body to the public service board.

Mr. Kearney stated that the program as finally adopted this year will be largely governed by the amount of money available, but he does not see how the tentative program can be carried out for less than half a million dollars at least.

UNION SERVICES IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES

Solemn union services in honor of the Holy Name will be held to-morrow in St. Michael's and the Sacred Heart churches. The Holy Name societies of the various churches will provide communion in the morning in their own church and assemble in the afternoon for the union services in the churches mentioned above.

The exercises in St. Michael's will start at 3:30 o'clock with the Holy Name societies of St. Michael's, St.
Patrick's, St. Columba's and St. Mary's, Collinsville, in attendance. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. John J. Powers, pastor of St. Columba's white rock. Michael C. Gilbride, pastor of St. Mary's in Collinsville will preside at benediction with Rev. Fr.
McDonough of St. Patrick's sub-diocese.

The services in the Sacred Heart church will begin at 3 o'clock and will be attended by the societies of the Sacred Heart, Immaculate Conception, St. Peter's, St. Margaret's, Holy Trinity, St. Joseph's, St. John's, North Chelmsford, and St. Andrew's, North Chelmsford. The preacher will be Rev.
George E. Fox, O.M.I., of the Twen-tysix apostles.

Tomorrow's union services are in compliance with the wishes of His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, who in 1907, authorized the organization of Holy Name societies in every parish in the archdiocese. This is a purely religious organization founded for the purpose of leading men to the full performance of their spiritual duties, and as its especial object the honoring of the Name of Jesus and the avoidance of all blasphemy and unclean speech.

The societies of St. Joseph's, St.
Louis, Notre Dame de Lourdes, and St. Jeanne d'Arc church will meet in St. Jeanne d'Arc church at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. E. J.
Vincent of St. Louis church.

SHOT DOG BEHIND THE KITCHEN STOVE

A little while before noon today, Harrison Elder, of the Lowell Home for Cretins, received a call from a Grove street, where a dog had been taken with a tin, and had growled and snapped at his owner. When Mr. Elder arrived on the scene the dog had leaped himself into a position under neath the kitchen cupboard, where he was inaccessible and the method which was finally necessary to get him out was by taking a pot shot at him, whereupon he made a hurried exit and descending to the kitchen went tearing about at a marvelous rate of speed.
He was finally cornered behind the kitchen stove and dispatched with one pot shot. From the appearance of the animal, Mr. Elder believes, the dog suffered from a case of the rabies, but as no one was bitten before he was shot, there is no danger from that source.

SHIP AND CREW OF SEVEN LOST

British Schooner Donald L.
Silver Went Down in St.
George Bay, Off N. F.

Was on Way to Gloucester, Mass.—Bodies of Five of Victims Recovered

CULING, N. F., Jan. 5.—The loss of the schooner Donald L. Silver, with her crew of seven men, last Thursday, in St. George bay, off Newfoundland, 60 miles southwest of here, was reported today. Five of the bodies have been recovered. The ship was bound from the Bay of Islands to Gloucester, Mass.
The Donald L. Silver, a 94 ton fisherman of British registry, left the Bay of Islands last Monday with a cargo of herring. Thursday morning she encountered a blinding snow storm and a heavy gale and quickly foundered.

The names of the lost were given as Captain Joseph Blackett, in command;
James Blackett, mate; William Knuth, Leonio Wheeler and John Blackett, all of Bay of Islands; Harold Seyers and Bert Seyers of Bay St. George. Captain Blackett, John Blackett and Harold Seyers were married.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT BALL

The committees have been appointed to take care of the final details in connection with the annual ball of the officers in the Lowell High school regiment. At yesterday's meeting announcement was made that an order had been engaged and plans completed for a color ceremony and grand march in true military style. The dance will last from 8 to 12 o'clock and will be held on Friday, Jan. 12.
There will be 18 dance committees.
The names of the committees are as follows:
General manager, Capt. John J.
Brown, assistant general manager,
Capt. Ralph R. Butler, chief aid, Capt.
Thomas P. Sullivan.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place
Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 2, at St.
Peter's rectory when Mr. Frank P. Mc-Mahon, Jr. and Miss Irene Johnson were united in matrimony by Rev. John Manning. The bride was attired in a gown of holding ivory bridal suit and carried a shower bouquet of Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. She wore a veil held by pearls and orange blossoms.
The bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Johnson, sister of the bride, wore baby blue satin with silver lace and carried milk opphelia roses. Baby Alice Taylor, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore turquoise blue georgette and red velvet satin and carried a basket of rose buds. Mr. Joseph McMahon, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The brides gift to the bridegroom was a green and aquamarine ring and the best man received a gold watch and chain from the bridegroom. The flower and was presented a baby platinum wrist watch. After the ceremony a reception was held at Gratton hall where a wedding supper was served by the Harvey Catering Co. The hall was decorated with potted palms and cut flowers. The ushers at the hall were Messrs.
T. Monahan, John Dalton, W. Burey and E. Gath. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour with Redding's orchestra furnishing the music. Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Mahon left on an extended wedding tour to New York and New Jersey and will be at home to their friends at 356 Broadway after Feb. 1. Present at the wedding were guests from Cambridge, Nashua, N. H., and Thompsonville, Conn.

MEETING POSTPONED

The local Hibernian committee in charge of the St. Patrick's day convention has postponed its meeting, scheduled for tomorrow, on account of Holy Name services in the churches. The meeting will be held, however, on Jan. 13 in Liberty hall at 7:30 p. m.

NEW FIRE APPARATUS

Chief Saunders to Ask for Three Pumps and Two
Tractors This Year

One Pump Needed Would Comprise Equipment at
New Oaklands House

Estimates to cover the purchase of three triple combination pumps and two tractors will be included in the 1924 budget, submitted by Chief Edward E. Saunders of the fire department, he announced today. This would completely motorize the department. One of the three pumps desired would be the equipment for the new engine house in the Oaklands to be another would be stationed at the ready for occupancy some time in May according to present reckoning. House of Engine 1 in Graham street and the third would go to the house of Engine 5 in Centralville. One of the tractors would be attached to the aerial ladder truck at the central station in Palmer street and the other would haul the aerial truck at the West Sixth street house in West Centralville.

WOULD MOTORIZE HIS DEPARTMENT

CHIEF EDWARD E. SAUNDERS

Chief Saunders pointed out today that if a triple combination for the Oaklands house is to be on hand when the house is ready for use, a requisition to cover its purchase must go in early in the year and this he plans to do.

Upon his recommendation and following conferences with Mayor John J. Donovan, Fire Chief Edward E. Saunders and George W. Morrison, local agent for the Four-Wheel-Drive tractor, Purchasing Agent Edw. J. Donnelly today announced that the requisition under which bids recently were received for a tractor for the fire department, has been cancelled.

"This action has the approval of all persons interested," Mr. Donnelly said. "The cancellation of the requisition brings to an end a controversy of several weeks' duration during which the tractor award was made to the Four-Wheel-Drive sold by Mr. Morrison. Upon the announcement of the award, Chief Saunders declared the F.W.D. was not satisfactory to him and said he would not accept it if delivered. The mayor stated he had no reasons for not awarding the bid to the F.W.D. pointing out it was the lowest in price and as far as he knew was fully capable of doing the work required of it in the fire department.

A day of an agent Purchasing Agent Donnelly announced that he had asked Mr. Morrison to file a $2000 bond in relation to delivery, stating as his reason that there was a considerable difference between the F.W.D. bid and the one nearest to it in price and he felt the city should be given every protection in the matter of delivery in complete accordance with the original specifications.

Chief Edward E. Saunders said today he will not submit another tractor requisition at the present time.

Pistol Shot Wounds

Was Attacked Last Midnight
by Two Men on Stairway of R. R. Station

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Edward H. Dolge, wealthy real estate broker of Mount Vernon, N. Y., died in Lincoln hospital today from pistol shot wounds suffered last midnight when attacked by two thugs on the stairway of the Hunt's Point station of the New York, Westchester & Boston railroad. He was 54 years old.

As he ebbed, Mr. Dolge attempted to give certain instructions regarding his affairs to police at his bedside. They asked him to describe his assailants, who had escaped in a limousine after a long chase.

"What's the use of trying to describe them?" he asked. "You'll never get them fellows."

Duffy Girl Pleads Not Guilty to Fur Robbery Here and Father Offers to Furnish $5,000 Bail

Joseph A. Barry, Her Companion, Pleads Guilty to Breaking and Entering and Larceny—Facts Go to Grand Jury Wednesday—Both Defendants Committed in Default of Bail—Girl's Father Goes Home for Deeds to Property He Would Offer as Surety

Two of the three defendants in the sensational Caisse fur robbery of yesterday were arraigned in district court before Judge Bright this morning a continuance until Jan. 15 being granted at the request of the police. As the grand jury will go in session on Jan. 9th and the district attorney has been given the facts of the case it is expected that indictments will be brought before that date.

Joseph A. Barry pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the night time and larceny. Bail was set at $10,000 and he was confined in default of bail. Mary Duffy pleaded not guilty and asked that bail be reduced. James O'Keefe of Boston, her attorney, said the girl has no previous record and that her father, who was in court, could raise $5000 for bail but could not raise over that amount. Deputy Superintendent of Police Hugh Downey recommended a reduction and the court set the bail at $5000.

Miss Duffy was committed while her father returned to Boston to secure deeds and other instruments to prove title to the property which he would advance as surety. He said he expected to return and have her released before early evening.

Joseph A. Barry, who gave an address in Massachusetts avenue, when first arrested corrected his address today. He lives at 85 Highland street, New Bedford, and up to a short time ago was employed in a Middleboro restaurant.

Barry is 20 years old. Miss Duffy is nineteen and lives with her parents at 60 Montgomery street, Boston. The third member of the looting trio, Alfred M. Mellor of 32 West Newton street, Boston, has commenced his term of one year given him in Woburn court yesterday. Police expected he will be indicted with the couple that were arraigned here this morning and that the three cases will be called together in Superior court.

SEVERE COLD WAVE HITS EAST— TEMPERATURES DROP IN SOUTH

West Already in Grip of Zero Weather—34 Below at
Moorehead, Minn.—White River, Ont., Reports 42
Below—Two Frozen to Death in West

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The government weather forecasters brought into play some of the superlative terms of their scientific lexicon today to describe what will happen to the country in the next 24 hours.

A "crazy" cold wave was forecast for most of the east, as far south as the Virginia-North Carolina line, while a "cold wave" with temperatures below freezing, was said to be in store for all the rest of the eastern forecast district except southern Florida. It was recorded that the weather already was in the grip of under zero weather ranging downward to 24 degrees below at Moorehead, Minn. The low mark in Canada, was 42 degrees below at White River, Ont.

The term "severe cold wave" is seldom employed by the bureau. It is explained as indicating a radical and rapid drop in temperature and in the present case is expected to mean a reading of less than 10 degrees above zero at points well below the Mason-Dixon line.

For the most part the weather will be fair over the east, but there is snow in prospect for New England, New York, New Jersey, and eastern Pennsylvania. There already have been snow buries in the Lake region and at some middle western points. There will be some relief from the cold after a day or two but throughout the coming week, temperatures are to remain below normal over the whole country.

Two Men Frozen to Death
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Severe cold over-spreads most of the United States today for the first time this winter, with the most extreme weather of the season reported in the northwest, central west, southwest and the south, another swirling toward the Atlantic seaboard.

Coldest in Ten Years
At Chicago the temperature fell to 15 degrees below zero before dawn. The weather forecasters said that the

'Twas VERY GOOD WORK ALL 'ROUND

As a token of appreciation for services rendered in apprehending the Boston auto-handlers who were arrested for the local police, in Stoneham, yesterday morning, Supl. Atkinson today addressed complimentary messages to the police of Stoneham, Reading and Lawrence. Although they did not figure in the actual capture, explained the superintendent, members of the Lawrence force policed the Lawrence-Lawrence boulevard as far as Lowell and showed that they were on the job. "It was a commendable piece of work all around," he said.

LOOKS LIKE AN OLD FASHIONED STORM

Unbowed by the trumpet of the sky and unannounced by the government weather prophets, a snow storm broke over our city shortly after a deluge this morning and before noon a goodly quantity of the beautiful snow decorated our streets and highways, much to the disgust of shoppers and shopkeepers.

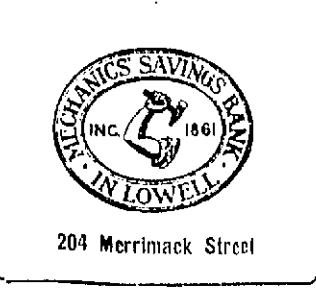

A few soft flakes greeted the mill workers as they started for the mill.

One Would Head Traffic

Superintendent Thomas R. Atkinson of the police department this year will ask the city government for sufficient money to enable him to appoint two new sergeants and to at least double the personnel of the present traffic squad. He believes the traffic squad should number a dozen or more officers, as he feels the present squad of six men and a supervisor entirely inadequate to cope with the tremendous increase in vehicular travel through the city streets.

The superintendent believes the supervisor of the traffic squad should be an officer and one of the sergeants desired is for such a position. There also is need of another sergeant for the late night shift, he states, and in discussing his 1924 budget esti-

Constitute Serious Menace—Makes Annual Report

The annual report of City Animal Inspector W. A. Sherman submitted today to Mayor John J. Donovan includes the statement that there are in Lowell at present between 10,000 and 20,000 unlicensed or improperly marked dogs, many of them ownerless and homeless, who feed as best they can on garbage and other refuse.

They constitute a real menace, he declares and states that the city has been particularly fortunate in escaping a serious outbreak of rabies. He recommends that all unlicensed dogs be killed. By Sherman's report shows that during 1923 he examined 24 stables, 249 cows, 22 young cattle, seven bulls and 198 swine. He identified and released 215 cows sent into the city from outside the state. He placed three cows in quarantine, killed two because they were tubercular and released one. Eleven horses were examined when shipped in from outside the state. He had reported to him during the year 150 cases of dog bites. Four heads were sent to Boston for examination and two positive cases of rabies were reported.

A continuance of one week "to find her husband" was granted Virginia Walkes of Railroad street, alleged keeper of liquor, whose domestic was visited by the liquor squad raiders last night. She said she couldn't pay a fine or couldn't get bail.

"Who'd go my bail?" she asked the court through the Polish interpreter. "Where's your husband?" asked the judge.

She shrugged her shoulders and let the matter drop.

Attractive Bill at Keith's Theatre

Tomorrow will see snap, pop, vim, vigor and several other things at the B. F. Keith Theatre, with the Blossom Heath ten orchestra on the cards, to offer their very latest musical deceptions. They are, without a doubt, the best jazz orchestra Lowell has ever known and their work is absolutely new. Russ Brown and Jean Whitaker make an admirable pair of funsters, and Little Lord Robert, the diminutive actor, gives positively the best work of his career in a little fantasy specially written for him. Earle & Benton are down for turns in their musical comedy work. Others are Hinder & Roy and Hillard & Fay. The picture for the day will be "Patsey."

The coming week's bill will catch your fancy. Vivian Holt and Myrtle Leonard have an intimate song recital which is one of the sensations of the season. The girls were underlined in Nicholas & Heath's "Red Pepper" and they have taken their act, plus some new ideas, and have placed it in the very forefront of vaudeville.

Do you know how the jesters of Old King Tut's time worked? Probably not, but Murray & Alan, two youngsters, are going to give their version of it all, and it ought to prove most diverting. Coupled with the old Egyptian quaintness will be some modern talk and some dancing which will make the act.

MEETING AT THE GREENHALGE SCHOOL

In his address at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association in the Greenhalge school yesterday afternoon, Carl E. Chader, state supervisor of physical education, laid particular stress on the essential importance of good health to boys and girls of the school age, and on the development of this health by sensible and well planned play and athletics. He also declared it to be the duty of all teachers and parents to see that the children under their care had the benefits accruing from such exercise.

May Denzinger, winner of the second prize in the recent essay contest, read her paper on the meaning of "Armistice Day." Estell Doran and Francis Gorman, students at the State Normal school presented a short musical program.

Officers of the organization for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. Cingares, president; Mrs. Coe, vice president; Mr. Garvey, treasurer; Miss Judley, secretary; Miss Gillick, chairman of program committee; Mrs. Cluff, chairman of social committee; Miss Cochran, chairman of membership committee.

WILL SING SONGS JENNY LIND MADE FAMOUS

Jenny Lind was probably the most talked-of person in all Europe when Barnum, without having seen her or heard her, persuaded her to make a tour of the United States. He risked his own fortune and all he could borrow on the venture. The last few thousand dollars required was furnished by a relative in Philadelphia. He was many times repaid for his faith in the daring showman.

Six months before Jenny Lind came to America, Barnum spoke of her to a railway conductor standing between New York and Philadelphia.

"Jenny Lind?" asked the conductor, "is she a dancer?"

"The question," says Barnum in his autobiography, "filled me as it his words were put in that I mean to present the public mind through the newspaper with the reputation of the great songstress."

The thoroughness of that preparation has lasted for more than seventy years and Jenny Lind has become one of the traditions of this country.

Jenny Lind arrived in New York in September, 1859. The steamer Atlantic had brought her to this country, was saluted at Sandy Hook and again as she played up the narrows. Forty thousand people were at the landing to meet her. Triumphant archways marked her pathway. Crowds surged around her hotel and clamored for her appearance. Everywhere audiences fought like angry mobs to gain entrance to the concert halls where she sang. People prominent in public life paid her great honors. Mayors and governors presented their compliments in person. President Fillmore called on her.

The Swedish Nightingale broke her contract with Barnum after 92 concerts, she still had 58 to sing, but the two parted friends. While visiting in Boston, she was married to Otto Goldschmidt, composer and pianist who had joined her here. Shortly thereafter they returned to Europe. In 1858 she took up her residence in England, where she died in 1887. It is a curious fact that after her American tour, she rarely sang again professionally.

Frieda Hempel will sing the songs that Jenny Lind made famous in the United States at her Jenny Lind concert to be given at the Auditorium on Jan. 13 at 3.15 p. m.

LAUDER COMING TO LOWELL JAN. 18TH

A writer in the Toronto Saturday night press writes of Sir Harry Lauder, who is shortly to be seen—and heard—here: "Lauder, who was a soldier in the first world war, was a man of a fine, bright, because he made laughter serve the war, and made him a force."

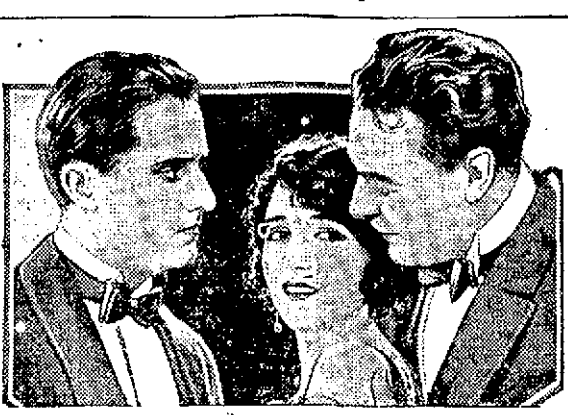

among the truly religious forces of his time. What a religious force! In his smiling face, his inspiring manner, his gentle, yet firm, appreciation of the importance of a man's activities, which place a touch of heaven in the very day proceedings of every day people. That sort of a religious force, for the better and comfort of "I love Lauder."

Season's
Pick

N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5.—I have before me—and you have—the pictures of the "Baby Stars of 1924." New sparklers in the Hollywood firmament, heralded by those astute astronomers, the publicity value of the screen gods, known as the Wampas.

These girls, defying the traditional gush of 19, are the favored ingenuities of the screen.

All have had considerable experience. Some already shine distinctly. Others are emerging from a rather glow. Some may reach first magnitude during 1924. If they don't it will not be the fault of the aspidochelone Wampas.

"Because I—Sister"

As I have said, I have their pictures before me. A more susceptible man than your intimated Hollywood correspondent would have had his eye knocked out. No wonder my type-writer sitters with pleasant embarrassment in blundering for a "lead" adequate to the subject. Even the keys of the machine are all "ohs" and "ahs" and "ahs."

Anyway, this is the third annual class of "Baby Stars." It includes Clara Bow, Blanche Mahaffey, Elmer Fair, Gloria Grey, Carmelita Geraghty, Margaret Morris, Juliana Johnston, Dorothy Mackaill, Hazel Keener, Marian Nixon, Lucille Rickson, Alberta Vaughn and Ruth Hiatt.

Folks, here are the twinklers of the new year.

Baby Stars, here is the waiting world. It's your oyster. Try and open it.

Clara Bow, irrepressible Brunette Bopper, part enough to contradict her own grandmother: brown bobbed hair and dinky eyes; age 17; born in Brooklyn; won first notice by performance in "Down to the Sea in Ships." All right, Clara. Next.

Blanche Mahaffey, full of the vim of the Polaris from which she springs, glowing youth and Irish idea eyes, rapidly winning honors in Hal Roach comedies; born in Cincinnati; Hurrah for Ched.

Dorothy Mackaill—English girl who knows just what she wants and how to get it; repressed animation that can warm or chill by turns; blond hair and dinky eyes; won fame in "The Fighting Blade"; London bridge might fall and it get tired, but it wouldn't worry Dorothy.

Feature at The Strand, Starting Sunday

DANNY BRENNAN TO TAKE PART IN MUSICAL SHOW

"The Love Test" at The Opera House

Flex Ingraham, master director, has again added to his laurels for in "Where the Pavement Ends" he has made a picture that may well be called a masterpiece. Ingraham, it will be remembered, is the man who made such splendid pictures as "Scarborough," "The Four Horsemen," "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Trifling Women," and others of equal caliber. Mr. Ingraham has brought to the screen a picture of this thrilling tale of romance in the South. The atmosphere and reality of the story is greatly enhanced by the remarkable acting of Alice Terry and Ramon Novarro, who play the leading roles. In "Where the Pavement Ends," Miss Terry plays the part of the daughter of a missionary.

The brilliant days and the calm, moonlight nights of the tropics, bring dreams of love and romance to the lonely girl. The dream is translated into living reality by her lover of the South Seas. But the path of love is not smooth. She knows that her clandestine romance will not meet the approval of the father, Gregson, keeper of a rum shop and the richest man on the island. She swears that she will have her for his own, and Gregson is not a man to give up easily what he has vowed to have. The part of the man who symbolized love to Matilda is played by Ramon Novarro. Rex Ingram's newest screen play, who won the plaudits of movie goers in "Trifling Women" and "Trifling Women," Edward Connelley and Harry T. Morey, also are members of the notable cast.

That Gibson is the star of "Shoutin' for Love," Gibson has starred in many western pictures but has never been so successful as he has appeared here. The western locale is practically any other because of his luminousness. "Shoutin' for Love" has a theme of intimate interest to several thousand American men today, and a casual interest to the rest of the world that has observed these thousands of men, for his hero is a victim of a "well-shock," laboring under the high nervous tension of that dread nervous disease. Laurel Langham, leading woman of many recent Universal productions, appears opposite Gibson in her second role with him. Every veteran will want to see this picture because that affluence of effects are pathetic every hand of it. This picture is not only a picture of love, but a picture of the plums of cowardice from the most absorbing and interesting that Gibson has made for some time.

Lowell patrons of Sunday will recall with pleasure the wonderful dance music furnished by those jolly colored boys at the popular Lyndfield

At Merrimack Sq. Theatre

The other feature for the first half of the week is "Mine to Keep," a compelling drama of love and the longer with intense heart interest and a hum-drum thrill. The featured players include Bryant Washburn and Mabel Forrest.

The grand excellent shorter features, including a comedy and the News Weekly, will round out a typical Merrimack Square program.

Early in 1923, a sensational novel appeared in the New York book market. Within four months it had swept the country and taken the position of the second best seller in the book stores to date. This author was new to most of the public, but today he is more talked of than any one in the literary field.

Arthur Train, a New York attorney, jumped into the limelight over night with "The Children's Children." Mr. Train's book from his standpoint is not a work of fiction. He wrote one of the world's greatest novels out of personal experience he had lived in New York from his years of law practice in New York city. The characters he wrote of were characters he had encountered. Many of his experiences were personal and he knows New York as few authors know it. And this has been the story of his life.

It is a story of a family from the first generation to the third of his own generation. It tells of human weakness, human strength, it tells of moral and mental decay, but in a clean, grip-

NORMA TALMADGE IN "ASHES OF VENGEANCE"

Norma Talmadge in the crowning achievement of her screen career. This alone should be sufficient inducement to attract every lover of the better class of motion pictures to "The Strand" for four days, beginning with tonight on Sunday. "Ashes of Vengeance" is the title of her latest and considered by a majority of critics her highest and best picture. Assisting the star is Conway Tearle, Courtney Foote, Claire McDowell and others of screen note. Tremendous scenes of massacre, strife and sword play, enacted by thousands of players—colossal and picturesque settings, gorgeous costumes, all combine in making this presentation prize worthy. And standing out brilliantly in this dazzling background, is a story of love, pride and desire, for vengeance are withered in the fires of an all-consuming love. See it and you will agree with the critics of the New York World who said, "It is a notable mountain among the myriad molehills of the screen."

"Romance magnified, glorified and enlarged," that's what you find in "Ashes of Vengeance." The colorful atmosphere of France of the past, the terror and exciting scenes of three different castles, the positive full-room of the Louvre, where in suffused excitement 1200 ladies and gentlemen of the court are dancing the minuet on the fatal eve of St. Bartholomew. Sword play ranging from single duels to the mighty clash of contending forces. Brilliantly expanded gaily equipped horses and attending men, at-arm moving along the picturesque ping, vivid manner. It is just as modern as the five star edition of today's newspapers. It is the theme of modern life in the days of '92.

A veritable stream would be preached upon the theme of "Mine to Keep," a Ron Wilson production, the second feature for the first part of the week. For to make a marriage successful it must be remembered that each is required to give and forgive, love and forgive. There can be no other, no double standard, no fenceless without cause. Reason must dominate a happy married life and reason is the thing that a jealous man or woman is capable of forgetting.

This picture in which Bryant Washburn and Mabel Forrest play the leading roles, is one of the most beautiful in the history of the screen. It is a story of a family from the first generation to the third of his own generation. It tells of human weakness, human strength, it tells of moral and mental decay, but in a clean, grip-

When "Danny" Brennan was doing duty with the A.E.F. forces in France during the World War he occasionally found time to entertain his comrades behind the lines. Ever since returning to Lowell with a lieutenant's attached to his name, Danny has been besieged by various organizations to participate in minstrel shows and musical comedies. A natural comedian, possessed of a pleasing voice and an unusual personality, his appearance on any stage gives rise to satisfaction. At present he is preparing a brand new number in the book line, which he will present in the Memorial Auditorium on the evening of Jan. 15 in connection with the big musical show, "Let's Go" under the auspices of the Lowell Knights of Columbus. His selection is sure to make a decided hit with patrons of the show, as are all the other happy numbers now being arranged by Jack Harry S. One of Boston, an expert in matters musical. The proceeds of "Let's Go" will be donated to the Knights of Columbus charity fund.

Do not think the popular members of the Players will be overlooked, for all of the cast have been assigned parts that will win for them new laurels from their many admirers. Miss Hazel Osborne, the charming leading lady, will be afforded an opportunity to display some very clever acting as a sweet little country girl who is lured by her charmer, while Victor Brown, the leading man, has some wonderful scenes as the handsome and romantic Tom. He also has a scene with Miss Hazel Osborne as a mother, Mrs. Edna. Edna has a scene that will put her in a clear light in the hearts of the audience. The picture is a masterpiece of the "The Love Test" is a play that appeals to all classes, for it abounds in comedy, drama, love, interest, adventure, mystery and its surprises are many and varied. Wherever presented it has received high praise and there is no doubt that its presentation will be as successful as it was in the Theater City.

THE SPELLBINDER

Lived Within Appropriations

The announcement by City Engineer Stephen Kearney that all departments under the direction of the Public Service board went through the year 1923 within their appropriations has caused much favorable comment throughout the city. The departments include street maintenance, sewer maintenance, street lighting and police and water collection. These branches did a great amount of work during the year and with all bills paid, after a careful check-up, it is found that a surplus of $10 exists. This will be turned back to the city treasury.

The police department also lived within its appropriation, according to announcement by Supt. Thomas H. Atkinson. This is considered a rare accomplishment, not only because of the great amount of work performed by the liquor squad, but also because it was found necessary to add 14 permanent patrolmen to the payroll during the year. In commenting on the work of the department during the year, Supt. Atkinson says the traffic situation was the greatest problem encountered. It will continue so, adds the superintendent, until an up-to-date traffic ordinance is adopted. He makes a plea for the adoption of this ordinance drawn up by Traffic Supervisor Connors and himself, expressing the belief that if this is done, a great improvement will be brought about.

For Public Service Board

Already three candidates have been mentioned for the position on the public service board to become vacant by the retirement of George Rivers. Frederick P. May, long a member of the wide experience Chester Runkle of the Runkle Construction Co., and Newell F. Putnam, formerly connected with the city engineer's office and later superintendent of streets and commissioner of the public buildings department, are the names most prominent. It is mentioned for the place. Of the three, it is said, that Mr. May has the pole, but the other men are working zealously in an endeavor to land the appointment.

Auditor Martin Unopposed

It is a singular tribute to the ability and popularity of City Auditor Daniel E. Martin to find that to date no candidate has appeared to contest his re-election. Mr. Martin has conducted the auditor's office in an eminently satisfactory manner and has operated in every way with the mayor in his financial policies. He is always "on the job" and gives personal attention to the smallest details. It would indeed be hard to find a more conscientious official than City Auditor Martin.

Supt. Gormley's Place

The office of superintendent of the Chelmsford Street hospital will be thrown into the political vortex with a few others, although it is one in which frequent changes must inevitably work great injury to the institution and its inmates. There are several candidates for the office, but the present incumbent is giving satisfaction. The interests of the institution and the city would best be served by his re-election. It was "Uncle Robert," the philanthropist who, on a visit to the institution recently, said that Supt. Gormley was the best official he had ever met for an institution of that kind. If there is any truth in that statement, it should count in behalf of the present superintendent. It is informed that a great many improvements have been made at the institution during the incumbency of the present superintendent. Such matters, of course, will have this weight with the officials at city hall in electing a superintendent for the coming year. Mr. Gormley in lieu of his own services and those of his wife, who is an active and devoted worker in the institution, draws the salary of $2200 per annum.

Wage Increases in Lawrence

The Lawrence city council at a special meeting held Wednesday denied the request of Mayor-elect Walter T. Rochester to leave the matter of wage increases for the city laborers as yet to the 1924 city council for action. The new mayor's plea was answered when the retiring council unanimously adopted the order providing for an increase of 50 cents a day from $5 to $5.50 for all municipal laborers.

The council completely ignored another request of the new mayor made last Monday to reconsider increases

granted to the policemen and firemen and consequently the no wage scales automatically went into effect on January 1.

After granting approximately $150,000 in increases to policemen, firemen and laborers without a murmur, the down-river council started splitting hairs when the proposal to increase the salaries of the fire chief and deputy fire chief came up for consideration. The advertised order provided for a $400 increase for each official, the fire chief from $2800 to $3200, and the deputy from $2400 to $2800. After considerable discussion the order was finally amended to make the chief's salary $3000 and the deputy's $2500.

Butler Not Well Known

Hon. William M. Butler, one of the candidates for the republican nomination for U. S. senator, was in the state senate with Hon. John E. Drury of this city. For a man who is aspiring to a senatorial seat, it is surprising how few people know him throughout the state. There appears to be a merry war in prospect for this nomination. Already Louis A. Coolidge has announced that he will contest with Mr. Butler for the honor, while Congressman Dillingham and Speaker Walker may also enter the fight. Meanwhile Hon. David I. Walsh is watching from the sidelines the battle for the G. O. P. nomination and it is said he is preparing to conduct a very vigorous campaign for re-election. Senator Walsh for outshines all of the G. O. P. candidates as a campaigner. The junior senator is an aggressive speaker, and with a winning personality he will be hard to beat. As a vote-getter, Senator Walsh is one of the foremost in the state. He has thousands of letters on file at his office in Washington from World War veterans in appreciation of favors extended. His office is manned by four secretaries who are kept busy with correspondence. The senator is always ready to assist his constituents wherever possible.

Democratic Convention

The manner of electing delegates to the democratic national convention of 1924 is herewith given in detail:

Presidential preferential primaries will be held in 15 states.

State primaries for the election of delegates to the national convention will be held in 17 states.

State conventions for the election of delegates to the national convention will be held in 17 states.

State conventions elect the delegates to the national convention in three states, and in one state (Louisiana) has the power to determine the method of election.

Illinois and New York are the only states which have both a primary and a convention. In these two states district delegates are elected at a primary and delegates-at-large are elected by a convention.

The presidential primary election in Massachusetts will be held on April 23.

The following states will hold conventions to elect delegates to the democratic national convention: Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois (at large only), Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New York (at large only), North Carolina (at large only), Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Wyoming (May 12).

With the exception of Wyoming the date of holding state conventions is fixed by the state committee. There are 1,054 delegates; votes necessary to nominate 729 1-3.

Political Straws

From this time forward many people will watch how political straws are blown about. Here is one for a starter. A short time before the disastrous defeat which the republicans received in a number of states a year ago, President Harding's home town elected a democratic mayor. The town was not a good one. Recently a democratic carried Northampton, Mass., for the same office. That happens to be President Coolidge's town. One of his first jobs was that of mayor of Northampton, before Senator Murray Chase and his little group of millionaire doctors of Massachusetts affairs, cast their eyes on Calvin and approved him. From that time forward his political fortune was made.

NEW MILITARY TRAINING EVENTS SCHEDULED

Next Tuesday evening, special drills have been ordered for all reserves at the armory on Westford street, starting at 8 p. m. A feature will be the presence of Lieut. Col. George A. Wiegand, C.A.A., I.R.A., commanding officer of the Boston coast defenses, who will arrive in season to give the company members inspection.

Two classes will be started at this drill, one for prospective non-commissioned officers and the other for commissioned officers. Enrollments are desired for these classes. Previous service is the only essential for promotion in the branches and competent instructors will be secured.

An added attraction at next Tuesday night's rally will be a pistol competition between reservists and national guard members. The former are out to win.

Plans for the coming military ball under reservists' auspices, will be completed at next Monday evening's meeting of the association in city library hall at 8 p. m. Officers will also be installed for 1924 on that evening. The ball is to be conducted in Memorial Auditorium on Feb. 21st next.

It was announced today that examinations for commissions as second lieutenants in the regular army will be held early in April.

A high school education, good health and moral character are about all the human essentials required to win a commission.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter

Charleston, S. C. — "I was completely run-down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough." — Mrs. ANNIE YOUNG, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S. C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nationwide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it. Because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is reason why it should help you.

FORTUNE SMILES LATE!

HEAD OF AIR SERVICE AT PANAMA

PANAMA, Jan. 5.—Major General Mason M. Patrick, head of the United States air service, arrived yesterday to inspect the air defense system of the Panama Canal. FOOTBALL NOT TOO ROUGH FOR HIGH SCHOOL OR COLLEGE, SAYS ROCKNE

Games Will Be Reported in Society Pages Instead of Sporting Pages Unless "Cake-Eaters" Are Converted Into "He-Men" Declares Famous Pilot of Notre Dame

ROCKFORD, Ill., Jan. 5.—Football games will be reported in society pages instead of sporting pages by 1940, Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, told the St. Thomas high school squad at a banquet here last night, unless "college cake eaters" are converted into "he-men." Football is not too rough for high school or college, Rockne said. "We need the game as it is played today," he added, "if we are to retain the red-blood we inherited from our forefathers."

PAL MORAN DEFEATS SHUGRUE IN FIFTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, moved another step closer to the goal of a match for Benny Leonard's world title by defeating Johnny Shugrue of Waterbury, Conn., in less than five rounds last night in Madison Square Garden.

Moran punished the game Waterbury star so severely that the referee stopped the contest in the fifth round to save Shugrue from further punishment. Moran thus won the match technically by a knockout. Moran employed a right bouncer effectively, also a straight left and a left hook, and although he punched Shugrue at will, he could not floor him. It was evident, however, that Shugrue could not stand much longer and the referee stopped the contest and pronounced Moran the victor.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS ALUMNI

The high school basketball team made an auspicious debut in the postseason annex last night, by defeating the alumni in the first game of the season by the score of 18 to 11. It was a close contest all the way through, but the varsity team got the jump in the opening chapter and maintained a lead throughout. Louis was the only man on the high school team to register more than one basket, while Al Ketchum was the individual star in the alumni team. The lineup and summary:

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thomas H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

Title to residential property at 209 Stockpole street has been conveyed to Marguerite Alarcon. The parcel comprises a house of full 2 1/2 story type with nine rooms. It has very recently been renovated throughout, and equipped with every convenience at a very considerable outlay. The land involved in the transaction totals 1800 square feet, assessed for twenty-three cents per foot. The sale is negotiated on behalf of Mrs. Josephine Joy.

Final papers have been sent to record from this office in the transfer of a large tract of land situated in the Belvidere section at the junction of Lane and Glenwood streets. The parcel comprises well over 100,000 square feet of some of the most desirable sites of this portion of the city. It has an extended street frontage on both Lane and Glenwood streets. The sale is negotiated on behalf of the estate of the late C. L. Hood, of the place being James T. Shen, Mr. Shen plans on the construction of some modern property here in the near future.

Also the sale of a residential property situated at 35 Wetherbee street, near its junction with Andover street. The house is in beautiful design with six rooms and bath. It is of comparatively recent construction, and occupies 10,000 square feet of land. The transfer is negotiated on behalf of Paul A. Green, the purchaser being Paul H. Stevens and Laura M. Stevens, having for personal occupancy.

Final papers have been sent to record from this office in the transfer of an investment parcel at 606-67-69 Whipple street, at its junction with Kinsman street. The parcel comprises a block containing stores and apartments. Land to the amount of 200 square feet is involved in this transfer. The sale is effected on behalf of Edmund Fairbank, the purchaser being Arthur P. McLean. Mr. McLean is already in occupancy of a portion of the premises.

George H. DeLong's Sales

The following sales have been recorded at the registry of deeds through the office of George H. DeLong:

John J. Hayden and Mary Hayden convey title of their property numbered 22-24-26 West Union street to Rose M. Smith. The parcel consists of a four-apartment and two apartment houses containing some modern improvements. The grantee purchases for the purpose of investment.

An interesting transfer is that of Eugene Flynn of his three-apartment house at 230-232 Lawrence street to Paul A. Baker, the well known publisher of the Lowell Sun. The grantee purchases with the intention of building on additional apartments and stores.

Papers have also been recorded on the transfer of the property of Patrick J. Delany at 61 Puffer street to John J. Nade and Katherine F. Nade. This property is an excellent two-family dwelling house with improvements and will be occupied as a home and investment by the purchasers. The sale is negotiated on behalf of the grantor.

Several years ago Cleveland sold George Burns to Boston. Now he is being eagerly sought by the same club. Cleveland, the Boston Red Sox, offered Ward and Mousie in a trade with Chicago. Today these two players are not on the market.

Perhaps no manager in baseball has taken back more players whom he had previously released than the famous John J. Delany of the New York Yankees. When Delany sent Heinie Groh to Cleveland, he was told that Groh was a great ball player. The Cleveland club, however, was not so sure. When Delany was told that Groh was a great ball player, he was told that Groh was a great ball player.

Always a great holder, Speaker no doubt would tend to greatly settle his infield and would work to the decided advantage of Swell and Wambach. Delany is now in a position to make possible the winning of another pennant.

The Speaker traded Burns to Boston, not because he didn't regard him as a valuable ball player, but because he believed that Burns would be a great ball player. The Cleveland club, however, was not so sure. When Delany was told that Burns was a great ball player, he was told that Burns was a great ball player.

Sales by R. M. Humphrey

R. M. Humphrey, realtor and general insurance broker, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

William C. Coleman has taken title to a single house, 5000 square feet of land and a two-car garage. The house is of seven rooms with steam heat, polished floors, modern bath, set tubs and electricity. The grantor in the transaction was John L. Leman. The grantee plans to occupy the premises.

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a modern property consisting of a modern eight-room single house, a story frame bakeshop, a stable and a five-car garage, numbering 91-93-95 Branch street. The land involved totals 5000 square feet, assessed at 10 cents per square foot. Jeanne Allard gave title to Ida Rosler, who buys for investment.

In Centralville two houses at 161 and 155 West Sixth street were sold for Martin Burns to Thomas F. Coffan. The property consists of a six-room frame cottage with fireproof roof and a seven-room cottage at the corner of West Sixth and West streets. The total land involved approximately 1000 square feet assessed at 15 cents per square foot.

SKI STARS IN TRYOUTS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 5.—Thirty-five skiers will compete in the Olympic tryouts which begin here today, with the 15 kilometer cross-country ski race and end tomorrow with the jumping events, the feature of the tryouts.

The 15 kilometer race will figure in the trials on which the four members of the American team will be selected. These taking part will have to cover the route laid out in 50 minutes to qualify.

Six men at first believed ineligible for participation on account of foreign citizenship were accepted yesterday, when it was learned that their records made them American citizens.

LOWELL MILLS ARE OPERATING ON BETTER SCHEDULES

New Cloth Products Under Appleton Designations—

Lowell Mills Selecting Names for New Products

How cotton shipments from outside wholesalers selling to Lowell textile mills were much smaller in number of total bales this month, owing to curtailment of local orders, yet more spindles were operated in Lowell textile mills this week than last.

The Massachusetts mills have increased production, as the long lines of workers entering the gates on Thursday and Friday morning indicated. Lowell-made fabrics of many descriptions are in better demand once more.

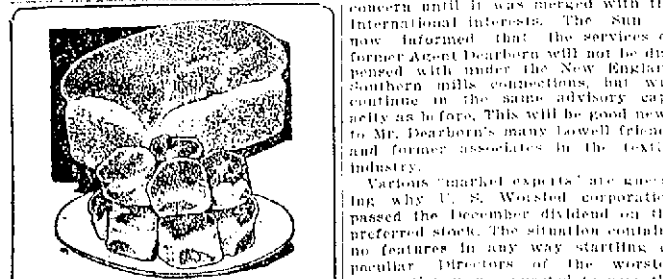

Reports of "active spindles" covering Lowell textile manufacturers and contained in some "revelation" national summary reports, are not always accurate and are not accurate today. Lowell spindles were said in one publication last week to be dwindling at the present time. The fact is that more spindles were operated in Lowell mills last week than have been actively engaged in old and new cloth lines since last October.

Corduroys, sheetings, shirtings, velveteens, cotton blankets, gingham, miscellaneous converting goods, some lines of underwear and hosiery, special khaki contract goods, bolivins in the woollens, graded goods in the shear cottons—these are some of the Lowell-made specialties in which, during the past few days, there has been a wider and healthier demand.

The Sun has been told of sublimed orders received in mills devoting most of their attention just now to flannels and goods of heavy grades. Bolivins contracts have many weeks to run, also. There is no let-up in the corduroy demand and more than one Lowell mill prefers to continue operating rather than let present closely regulated and sized orders for goods stack up.

New Appleton Products

Are the Lowell textile agents sleeping? A real investigation of street talk criticisms referring to "Lowell's stagnation," would banish most rumors about stagnant managements resting upon their oars. The Sun's announcement some weeks ago that variously

FEDERAL CONSTITUTION WASHINGTON SEETHING WITH QUESTIONS BEFORE CONGRESS

Bill Sent to Washington for Sections Now Minus Adequate Legislation

Louis A. Coolidge has drafted and sent to Washington for presentation to the house and senate the following bill providing for the enforcement of certain sections of the federal constitution for the enforcement of which there is now no adequate legislation.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States in congress assembled:

Section 1. Whoever shall, for beverage purposes, manufacture, sell, transport, import or export, or attempt to manufacture, sell, transport, import or export, any liquor within, into or from the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof shall, for a first offense, be fined not more than $1000, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both, and for a second or subsequent offense shall be fined not less than $500 nor more than $2000 and be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than two years, and such liquor shall be forfeited to the United States.

Section 2. Whoever shall deny or abridge the right of any citizen of the United States or any state to vote on account of race, color, sex, or previous condition of servitude shall, for a first offense, be fined not more than $1000, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both, and for a subsequent offense, shall be fined not less than $1000 nor more than $2000 and be imprisoned not less than one month nor more than five years, and such person shall be denied the right of suffrage in any state or national election.

Section 3. All laws inconsistent with section 1 or section 2 of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the passage and approval of the act.

NEW STAR HAS ARISEN IN GIRL SCOUT WORLD

Character, ability, health, happiness and virtue are the five points of a new star which has arisen in the Girl Scout world. For 12 years now scouts entering this informal play school have been trained in a triple ideal: health, health and citizenship, rising to the highest of all, character.

After a period of probation, the girls are made members of the organization. They are given a badge, a uniform, and a name. They are then sent to the community, practicing the highest rank possible in this movement, that of golden eagle scout.

To this present plan there has now been added an additional unit, the National Order of the Golden Eagle, an organization intended to include all those who attain this highest rank, and to preserve through its membership the ideals for which it and the whole scout organization stands.

The three great ideals—health, health, and citizenship—these are the three great ideals which the organization is intended to include all those who attain this highest rank, and to preserve through its membership the ideals for which it and the whole scout organization stands.

Two of Them Can Be Acted Upon During This Session—Democratic Leaders Prepare for Convention—Johnson Breaks Out—Wilson in Bad Shape

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—With the New Year came the first winter weather for the Capital City. With the New Year also came congress, after its ten days' holiday.

With congress came war to the Senate on matters political, partisan, national and international, as seen by the various factions now assembling under the great white dome.

Shall the tax bill follow the Mellon plan? Shall the women vote in their special privilege bills or their increased privilege measure, the Full Equality bill? Shall the women vote in their special privilege bills or their increased privilege measure, the Full Equality bill?

At this moment there are also "threatened" investigations enough in sight to take up all the time from now till the National convention in June, if the voices of the protestants are listened to.

Everybody seems ready for a scrap, the Senate and the House, the various political factions, on national reformers and the range of subjects runs all the way from politics to philosophy.

Men unfriendly to Gen. Wood are urging an investigation of the financial methods of his son, who was the first to hold the post of chief of the Federal Reserve Bank.

HAVE YOU ANY WOOL?

Don't ask these babies to solve a question or they'll give you the very blub-blah-blah. Their coats are the things from which baby's mohair wools come from and are worth something on the goat's head. The animals were raised near San Angelo, Tex., and took first prize at a local show held in that city.
